LBJ Approves Federal Payhike

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, nursing a sore back, announced Saturday he has signed into law a 3.6 percent pay increase for 1.8 million federal employees. And he issued a new statement hailing "economic achievements of 1965."

Johnson, spending a quiet day at his ranch home with members of his family, seems to have slackened his already relaxed recuperation pace because of discomfort. Sad acting press secretary James H. Moyers, brother of chief press aide Bill D. Moyers:

"The President continues to have pain in the back which he has had for the past two days — well, for the past several days."

Moyers said the pain stems from the 12-inch incision made for Johnson's gall bladder — kidney stone surgery on Oct. 8.

That the discomfort may have slowed Johnson's pace was indicated by a reported slackening in presidential exercise. Earlier last week, the President took several long walks — some of three or four miles.

Moyers said that more recently "he did not walk a great deal."

The new pay boost for federal employees is their second in two years and covers postal as well as other civilian workers. Retroactive to Oct. 1, its cost is estimated at $641.5 million a year.

Johnson issued a statement saying it is the administration's aim "to make sure that salaries paid to our civil servants are neither more, nor less, than those paid for equal efforts in private industry." He said the new law "brings us close to that objective."

The President said also the increase is within wage-price guidelines developed by his Council of Economic Advisers.

"Wages in private industry have generally remained within these guidelines through the dedicated cooperation of both management and labor. I am proud that the federal government is showing the same sense of responsibility in conducting its own affairs," Johnson said. The House voted a 4 percent pay boost — which would have exceeded the guidelines — but the Senate held firm for 3.6 percent and the House yielded.

Johnson cheered the latest economic news in two statements. He waxed enthusiastic on this subject in his discourse on the pay law. And he put out a separate statement that gave an equally glowing account of current prosperity.

"There is every reason to believe," he said, "that this prosperity is going to continue."

The President noted that October marked the 56th straight month of climbing economic indicators and said:

"At no time in our history have we enjoyed such an uninterrupted period of peacetime economic expansion. And during this entire expansion our prices have remained more stable than those of any industrial country in the world."

For that, he handed out pats on the back to management, labor and government.

All the economic data discussed by Johnson have been made public earlier.

In yet another statement, Johnson announced that new 25-cent coins stripped of their silver content will go into circulation Monday. He said 230 million quarters will be distributed next week — with billions more on the way.

The new coins will circulate side by side with old quarters having a 90 percent silver content. The new model is a three-layered item with heads and tails of a copper-nickel alloy bonded to a core of pure copper.

Moyers said Johnson plans a very quiet weekend and probably would have private devotional services at the house Sunday instead of driving to one of the churches in the area.

State Official Warns Klansmen 'To Stay Out'

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — Atty. Gen. William G. Clark told the Ku Klux Klan Saturday night to "stay out of Illinois."

"I remind those who are members of such organizations that Illinois law provides very severe penalties for kidnapping or assault committed by masked persons," Clark said.

He addressed a dinner of Kane County Democratic Party leaders.

Clark said he approved the declaration by Secretary of State Paul Powell that the secretary's office would never issue a charter to any Klan unit or organization.

Should a Klan group procure an Illinois charter through use of a front, Clark said, he would start quo warranto proceedings to forfeit the charter.

The Klan bar, Clark said, has ample backing in decisions by the Illinois Supreme Court including the court's 1951 invalidation of a charter obtained by the White Circle League of America.

Clark likened the robes Klansmen to overgrown Halloween trick-or-treaters. "The treat they demand is nothing less than surrender of our human rights and our loyalty to law and order. The trick that this motley lunatic fringe threatens is spelled out in terms of the lash, the shotgun, kidnapping, beating, bombing or injury to one's family."

"This is not an organization of Americanism any more than were Hitler's storm troopers."

Secrecy Surrounds Romance

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — The LBJ Ranch was wrapped in possibly significant secrecy Saturday concerning the romance of Luci Johnson, the sparkling teenager of the White House, and boyfriend Pat Nugent.

Luci and Pat—she's 18 and he's about 23—flew down from Washington Friday night and some reports had it they had parental consent in mind now and matrimony eventually.

Newsmen who asked the White House Friday night and Saturday to say "yes" or "no" drew a complete blank.

This set off a ripple of speculation that perhaps President Johnson was trying to talk Luci and Pat out of announcing their engagement now and waiting until Luci is a little older and a little further along with her education. She's a freshman at Georgetown University in Washington, starting a four-year course toward a nursing degree.

Ordinarily the White House has no reluctance about trying to kill off rumors and false reports by branding them untrue or ridiculous or both—and doing so promptly. But not in this case.

Furthermore, Luci is a young lady with rather definite ideas and she isn't too reluctant to voice them—perhaps even to her daddy.

The whole family is there this weekend, including Luci's sister Lynda, 21, a student at the University of Texas in Austin. (Continued On Page Thirteen)

U.S. Jets Mistakenly Kill 48 In Air Attack

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force Skyraiders bombed a friendly Vietnamese village by mistake, killing 48 civilians and wounding another 55, a U.S. spokesman reported Sunday.

The spokesman said an investigation into the error was under way. He said preliminary indications were that Vietnamese officials who called for the airstrike Saturday had made the error.

The two Skyraiders, each capable of carrying 7,000 pounds of bombs, smashed the village of De Duc, 290 miles northeast of Saigon, near the government stronghold of Bong Son.

The spokesman did not give a breakdown of the casualties, but it was believed that most were women and children.

The American forward air controller, who directed the bombing, suspected a mistake had been made in ordering the strike and asked for a check with the Vietnamese military.

The spokesman said the Vietnamese confirmed De Duc was the target and the Skyraiders began making their bombing and strafing runs against the village which was listed as pro-government.

When the mistake was discovered, Vietnamese government teams were rushed to the village to aid the victims.

In other action, a company of U.S. Marines met and vanquished a Viet Cong human wave assault, the first the Red guerrillas have tried against the Leathernecks, at a tent camp 10 miles southwest of Da Nang Saturday.

The Marine camp was the major target in a flurry of Viet Cong strikes that included mortar shelling of the Special Forces camp at Plei Me in the central highlands, where U.S. and Vietnamese relief forces broke a week-long siege Monday. Others were made in the Mekong Delta.

A U.S. military spokesman said the 300-man Marine force and supporting jet fighters, in an hour-long pre-dawn fight, killed 56 Viet Cong, many of them teen-agers that the Marines considered had just been conscripted from nearby villages.

Marine losses were officially described as moderate. However, men on the scene said the Viet Cong killed three Marines at a nine-man outpost in the opening phase and one squad of 14 was eliminated in the close quarter fighting that followed.

with two killed and the others wounded.

The camp is one of many hillside posts established as the outer defense of the Da Nang Air Base, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, from which U.S. and South Vietnamese squadrons fly against both the Viet Cong and Communist North Viet Nam.

A picked group of 100 from a guerrilla detachment estimated at 300 to 400 launched the attack at 2:30 a.m., little more than 48 hours after the Viet Cong suicide squads wrought havoc among planes and helicopters on Marine air strips at Marble Mountain and Chu Lai, in the same general area.

"We dropped a lot of Viet Cong with pistols," said Sgt. Harry Dowdy of Salisbury, Md. "They came right up to our holes."

Leatherneck patrols moved out in pursuit after the Viet Cong survivors pulled back. But they returned empty-handed.

The city of Da Nang was temporarily placed off limits to all U.S. military personnel because of the guerrilla activity and the fact Monday is a Vietnamese holiday, in which Viet Cong agitators might stir up trouble.

About 30,000 U.S. servicemen are based in the Da Nang area. The activity suggested the guerrillas may be on the verge of a new offensive to prove the military buildup of the United States, which now has about 150,000 men in Viet Nam, has not blunted the determination of the Red high command.

Senior U.S. military sources in Saigon said Communist North

Viet Nam has infiltrated fresh troops into the central highlands for what could be one of the showdown battles of the war.

They said 10 or 11 Communist regiments are roaming the area now and seven of these are North Vietnamese units.

Flowers reported that he was the victim of a hit-and-run fist attack by two young men as he left the Dothan-Lee high school game Friday night.

The tall red-haired attorney general, his speech slightly slurred by a cut and swollen jaw, related the following events:

He, his brother Dr. Paul Flowers of Dothan, Ala., and Dr. Flower's wife had left the game and headed toward the exit, when a man between 20 and 25 years of age emerged from the crowd, called him by name, and extended a hand.

Flowers extended his own hand. The young man suddenly grasped the attorney general's hand in both of his, and another man stepped up beside Flowers and sent a fist crashing into his jaw.

"It hit right on the button," Flowers said. "I was out on my feet for a few seconds, staggering backwards."

He said that the man who had grabbed his hand "said something like 'Who was that? Why did he do that?' Then dropped my hand and ran into the crowd knocking people aside."

Flowers said he was "addled for about 20 minutes" by the attack which he did not report to the police.

Wilson, Smith Approve Proposal To Study Crisis

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — The prime ministers of Britain and Rhodesia agreed Sunday on a proposed royal commission to study the African colony's demand for independence, easing slightly the deadlock that gripped negotiations.

Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia warned, however, that if the commission doesn't deliver results, "it would be the end of the road" and his white-minority government would resort to "the other step," — a unilateral declaration of independence.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson, in a statement before leaving Salisbury after a week of talks, also had words of warning to both the black nationalists and the white Rhodesians. He told the nationalists that Britain would not use force to bring in a one-man, one-vote law, and he told the whites that if Rhodesia should unilaterally declare independence, Britain would counter with economic, political and constitutional measures.

He told the nationalists that Britain would not use force to bring in a one-man, one-vote law, and he told the whites that if Rhodesia should unilaterally declare independence, Britain would counter with economic, political and constitutional measures.

He said Rhodesians must be patient and wait several months for a negotiated independence. When he added, "if negotiations break down we will carry out the inevitable step," there was wild cheering and shouting.

The Rhodesian leader indicated a decision could be forthcoming sooner than several months, however.

Smith spoke to a ruling Rhodesian Front party rally.

Wilson, at his final news conference here said, "The door is open for agreement."

He said hopes lie in a proposed royal commission that would solve the constitutional problem that lies in the way of Britain's granting independence to this self-governing colony.

Smith's white government has threatened a declaration of independence that would allow Rhodesia's 3.8 million blacks little or no say in governmental affairs. Political and economic power now lies in the hands of 225,000 whites, mostly of British heritage.

Wilson came here Monday and had talks with 126 Rhodesian leaders of opinion. They included two banned African nationalist leaders, Joshua Nkomo and the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole. They head rival groups but Wilson managed to get them to sit down together under his chairmanship.

Wilson made it clear to them that Britain is not willing to use military measures to get the 1961 Rhodesian constitution changed and that time would have to elapse before the "one man, one vote" goal can be achieved. The 1961 constitution bars Africans from taking over the government even though they are the majority.

Miss New York Named Teenage Miss America

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Collette Agnes Daulte, her dark eyes sparkling despite only three hours' sleep Friday night, admitted Saturday she was stunned when she won the Miss Teen-Age America title.

"No, I really hadn't expected it," she said. "But when I made the finals I decided I was going to be real happy for whoever did win."

The tall, curvaceous 16-year-old said the congratulations from her home town of Paramus, N.Y., and from New York City which she represented here were still arriving.

The runners-up are Cynthia Anne Byrum, 17, Charlotte, N.C., and Judy Jacob, 17, Southfield, Mich., competing as Miss Detroit.

Wide Demonstrations Show Policy Support

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Americans across the nation found ways Saturday to show their support of U.S. policy on Viet Nam—the ways ranging from an "Operation Fruitcake" in Richmond, Va., to a mass march down New York City's Fifth Avenue.

Through demonstrations, gift collection campaigns, letters, and blood donor drives, young and old citizens came forward to express support for American troops in Viet Nam and approve their presence there.

The Fifth Avenue parade, like most of the other expressions of support of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy, came about as an answer to recent draft card burnings and other demonstrations against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Ten thousand marched against American involvement on Oct. 16. An estimated 25,000 paraded under sunny skies Saturday in support of the opposite view—that the United States does have good reasons for fighting in Viet Nam.

The crowd estimate was made by a policeman at the scene. The police did not release an official estimate.

Members of veterans' groups, labor unions, student and civil organizations joined the parade, sponsored by City Councilman Matthew Troy Jr. of Queens and the New York Journal-American.

Troy said there were 292 marching units in the parade and "unaffiliated citizens," making a total of 65,000 marchers.

Signs carried by the marchers read "Victory Over Viet Cong" and "Fight the Reds in Viet Nam and New York City."

The sign carried by one girl read "I Wish I Had a Draft Card."

There were several incidents when antiwar demonstrators appeared on the sidelines with a sign or a remark against Vietnamese involvement. One man with a sign reading "Profits Equal Murder" was pummeled by about 40 marchers and suffered head and rib injuries.

At the head of the parade were five metropolitan area men who have won the nation's highest military decoration, the Medal of Honor.

The "Operation Fruitcake" was the idea of the Woodman Civic Assn. of Richmond. The fruitcakes were sold at shopping centers, and each cake will be sent to a serviceman in Viet Nam with a Christmas card from the purchaser.

Student leaders at Northern Illinois University began a movement to collect funds for new newspaper advertisements avowing support of the troops in Viet Nam. University of Illinois students who are conducting a blood drive got a telegram from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey saying: "A noteworthy and laudable project. We must give our armed forces fighting overseas support and encouragement."

The dean of York, Dr. Alan Richardson, said there was no obvious tie-up with the desecration at Canterbury.

The daubings followed a controversial statement by Dr. Michael Ramsey, archbishop of Canterbury and primate of all England, that in certain circumstances force might be justifiable in Rhodesia to protect the rights of the black Africans.

Dr. Ramsey was himself archbishop of York until 1961.

York Cathedral Desecrated By Demonstrators

YORK, England (AP) — Centuries-old York Cathedral, the second ranking Anglican church in England, was desecrated with paint Saturday and police were warned a bomb had been planted in the crypt.

Red paint was daubed across the lectern and the archbishop's chair in a carbon-copy repeat of the sacrilege committed Friday at Canterbury Cathedral, 200 miles to the south.

After a thorough search of the cathedral, part of which dates back to 1070, police said the bomb report was a hoax. The evening service was held as usual.

Vatican Council Has 10 Days Off

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council began a 10-day recess Saturday that could bring action on a long-awaited papal letter on mixed marriages.

The 2,200 prelates went into the extended recess primarily to allow drafting commissions to work on the fice (uncompleted schemata) still before the council.

The council is expected to end in December. The implementation of its far-reaching decisions, however, is likely to engage Roman Catholicism for years to come.

Council sources said a papal letter revising rules for marriages between Roman Catholics and non-Catholics is likely to be a chief topic upcoming.

The Pope had been expected to issue such a letter last month, but reportedly delayed its publication to get the bishops' views.

The letter is expected to revise some procedures that have brought Protestant objections in the past, such as a requirement to raise children of the union in the Catholic faith.

34 Senators Ready Selves For Next Year's Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Once a senator, always a candidate" seems to be the slogan of 34 Senate members whose seats will be at stake in the 1966 elections.

There may be a couple of dropouts, but nearly all of the 20 Democrats and 14 Republicans whose terms are expiring already are busy mending the fences at home in preparation for a battle at the polls for a new six-year lease on office.

Apparently there will be no voluntary retirements for the members who already have reached, or will reach before next Election Day, the Social Security landmark of 65.

Recent announcements by Sens. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., and Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., that they will seek reelection have emphasized that senators who are approaching it or already have passed it don't regard 70 as any age for quitting what they like doing.

Ellender, who is 74, has made serving in the Senate a lifetime habit. He first showed up to claim his seat on Jan. 3, 1937.

Anderson didn't arrive until 1949, having had some Cabinet business to take care of earlier as secretary of agriculture under President Harry S. Truman.

Still, for him the senatorial habit is a strong one, too.

The Democrats, who bragged about the "youth movement" which brought several young men of their persuasion into the Senate in 1964, seem likely to have six candidates next year already in their 70s or who will reach that mark before the voters go to the polls.

Besides Anderson and Ellender, they include Sens. A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, 78; Pat McNamara of Michigan, 71; and B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina and John L. McClellan of Arkansas who will have their 70th birthdays next year. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, 73, hasn't indicated whether he'll run again.

In contrast the only Republican in this age bracket likely to seek reelection is Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, 73.

In the 65-or-over category there are two Democrats, Sens. Richard B. Russell of Georgia and John Sparkman of Alabama. Four Republican members presently in this bracket—Sens. Len B. Jordan of Idaho, Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, Milward L. Simpson of Wyoming and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine—will be joined before election time next year by John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

As part of the youth movement, the Democrats have four almost certain candidates who are under 50. They are Sens. Ross Bass of Tennessee, Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island.

ASHLAND WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET FOR LUNCHEON

ASHLAND — The Ashland Woman's club will meet in the library club room at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 2, for a Harvest Luncheon. Members are requested to bring a covered dish and their own table service.

Hostesses will be: Mrs. Homer Butler, Mrs. C. V. Satorius, Mrs. E. L. Beades, Mrs. Virgil Pettit, Mrs. Herschel Reiser, Mrs. Harry Winkelman, Mrs. Harold Stice, Mrs. Vance White, Mrs. Emmerson Thornley and Mrs. Carl Weakley.

After the transaction of business, music will be presented by students of the local high school, under the direction of Miss Mary Ann White.

Harrington Wood, Jr., of Springfield, will speak on the trip he took to the Holy Land, Moscow, Russia and Berlin, Germany. He was in Berlin when the Wall dividing Berlin was being constructed. He will also show many interesting slides of the different cities and countries. He is well known as a portrayal of Abraham Lincoln in many plays. He was recently appointed a member of the Illinois Crime Commission by Gov. Otto Kerner.

Church Groups Hold Meetings At Meredosias

MEREDOSIA — Members of the Friendship Circle of St. John's Lutheran church and the Meredosias Methodist Church Sunday school class taught by Mrs. Robert Lansink held meetings recently.

The Sunday school class was entertained at the Lansink home with Mrs. William Taylor and Mrs. Herbert Hinners as assistant hostesses.

Present were Marlene Burrus, Sharon Smith, Debbie Brunett, Denise Feeney, Brenda Parker, Phil Hinners, Gary Gobel, Bruce Leowy, Steven Dawson, David Dawson and Bruce Dawson. Tina Hinners attended as a guest. Members of the class who were unable to attend were Mike Wells, Joan Breckon, Vickie Gobel, Cindy Smith, Tommy Parker and Robert Dawson.

Mrs. Oscar Nortrup entertained members of the L.C.W. circle at her home Oct. 19. The meeting opened with a hymn and a prayer offered by Mrs. Nortrup.

Mrs. A. H. Unland, topic leader, discussed "The Healing Community," assisted by Mrs. Marvin Gerecke and Mrs. Gilbert Steinberg. The business session was conducted by circle leader Mrs. Marvin Gerecke.

During the meeting, the group planned a family night supper to be held at the parish hall Nov. 21. The group will meet with members of the Loyal circle in December.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nortrup, who was assisted by Mrs. Ernest Koch.

More Bloodshed, Misery Ahead For Pakistan, India

EDITOR'S NOTE—The cease-fire in Kashmir settled nothing. In fact, India and Pakistan see the with hatred more bitter than ever.

By CONRAD FINK
NEW DELHI (AP) — They cannot afford it and don't really want it, but India and Pakistan are preparing busily for round two in their Asian tragedy. It's not certain whether they will clash again in the villages and dusty plains of the Punjab, or the desert of Rajasthan and the enemy will get a sound thrashing. But more bloodshed and misery seem in the cards.

Leaders on both sides warn of renewed war and openly attempt to maintain and even increase the feverish nationalism aroused by the fight that erupted after 18 long years of bickering and skirmishing. There were charges of rape, pillage and arson — the stuff of atrocity. Religious hatreds and "save our women" are themes employed in what clearly are government campaigns to prepare public opinion for the stern days ahead.

Round one indicated each country was better at such huffing and puffing than capturing the other's cities. Tactical post-mortems show they fought to a battlefield draw last time. But the Indian and Pakistani publics do not know that. Each is giving a picture of a lopsided victory and this inspires the grass roots demand for another go at the foe.

At the moment the only question seems to be: Will India and Pakistan go all out again with tanks, jets and large infantry units, or settle for limited bloodletting across cease-fire lines where the fire never ceases?

How long will it take to re-equip and reinforce the war machines in these two countries that were dragged periously near economic chaos by only 22 days of all-out fighting?

The mood in India is that all out war may come again — and so much the better if it does. Jingoism has been unleashed. War, the armed might of India, the righteousness of India's cause — these are the topics of the day.

Almost daily Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri goesads the nation to greater alertness, apparently feeling the nationalistic enthusiasm thus aroused can be turned against other foes, particularly the perennial food crisis. If not against the Pakistanis.

Shastri — the word means "Eminent Scholar" — leads the nation in the adoration of new heroes — grenade-throwing infantrymen who assaulted Pakistani pillboxes or gunners, dubbed "Patton killers," because they destroyed American-made Pakistani tanks.

Change the names and the story is the same in Pakistan. The subcontinent, it appears, may never be the same again.

For one thing, a crisis in America's relations with India and Pakistan, brewing for years, has been hastened by the conflict. Washington has attempted to maintain friendships with both warring neighbors, but both now say: "Anyone not with us is against us."

Indian leaders openly speak of mistrust of the United States and other Western powers they next accused of being pro-Pakistani. Washington is charged with playing politics with its aid — India has received more than $6 billion since 1952 — and of not assisting Indian diplomats under siege in Pakistan during the conflict.

From Shastri on down, Indian leaders constantly tell their people that what victories Pakistan's army and air force were able to win were the result of their having American-made equipment — received, the Indians say as payment for joining the U.S.-backed CENTO and SEATO military alliances.

The Soviet Union has gained popularity in India while the United States has lost. Moscow, like Washington, pressured India to call off the fight with Pakistan and never once spoused India's cause. India leaders, however, assure their people the Soviets privately promised support and this has made the Russians great heroes.

As for Britain, its stock never has been lower in India. There have been strong demands that India withdraw from the Commonwealth over what is called Britain's perfidy during the conflict — in other words, London's refusal to give India diplomatic and military support.

But regardless of how they storm against the United States, the Indians need Washington and its aid very badly and there are indications that cooler heads are trying to calm things down.

About 20,000 tons of American wheat is unloaded in Indian ports daily and this is the difference between life and death for thousands of Indians. India's agricultural effort hasn't been able to feed the nation's 400 million people, and dislocation resulting from the Pakistan conflict makes the outlook even dimmer — and makes American aid more important.

The same is true, but to a lesser extent, in Pakistan, which has received more than $5 billion in U.S. aid since 1961.

India appears in worse shape than Pakistan as a result of the conflict. Reserves of usable foreign exchange are down to a few millions of dollars and huge bills and debt repayments are looming ahead. In addition, nations that have supported India for years are showing reluctance to commit themselves to new aid that might go to finance round two with Pakistan.

The economic upheaval in Pakistan has been near disastrous. Hundreds of American technicians, for example, have been evacuated from AID projects under way in many areas of East and West Pakistan — and nobody seems to know when they'll be able to return and get the work going again.

India's long-range economic planning has been thrown out of kilter and government economists have been ordered to re-draft plans for the fourth five-year economic development plan, scheduled to begin next year. The emphasis will be on agriculture and defense, with industrial development — the darling of late Prime Minister Nehru — getting only third priority.

For a time there appeared to be a chance that an economic blockbuster would be thrown into all this — that Shastri would order development of nuclear weapons and a delivery fleet. He was under strong pressure to do this, on the grounds that Western nations, including the United States, would not come to India's aid.

His latest statement on the subject, however, is that India's policy is not to manufacture nuclear weapons and "We shall stick to it." The thinking is now that if Communist China resorted to nuclear war, the United States and Britain would come to India's aid, though there is no treaty requiring it. The weight of the Red Chinese menace from the north is never forgotten here.

This was one large factor in the stalemate that developed in the Lahore and Sialkot sectors of the western front. Indians did not dare commit more men and equipment against the Pakistanis with the knowledge that thousands of Chinese, backed by a nuclear arsenal, no matter how small, might come pouring through the mountains from the north.

The Chinese, who fought a border war with India in 1962, thus underlined the fact that in the future they are going to have a strong role in the subcontinent's politics — and wars. Indians feel they never again will be able to regard Pakistan as a nation of 110 million people. Now the Pakistanis are backed by 650 million or so Chinese.

Ironically, however, the Chinese intervention helped bring about the cease-fire. Fearing escalation to Asian-wide or world-wide conflict, the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union and the United Nations moved in. For once, the great powers pulled together — backing cease-fire attempts by United Nations Secretary-General U Thant.

Each great power also independently made it clear to Pakistan and India that it frowned upon the conflict. A cease-fire agreement ostensibly went into effect Sept. 23. It was broken almost immediately by both sides.

Bloodshed has continued constantly along what now is a 1,500-mile "cease-fire" line stretching from northeast Kashmir, south along the international frontier to the Arabian Sea. This continued strife makes it clear that for all their influence, the great powers and the United Nations have been unable to solve any of the basic problems underlying the conflict.

Device May Let Blind See Directly By Brain

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A Mexican team has invented an electronic device that bypasses the eye and sends light signals directly to the brain. The team hopes it may eventually be developed to help the hopelessly blind.

Dr. Armando del Campo, a professor at the National University, says the device now is in the experimental stage and is too large and bulky.

In time, he said, it may be possible to refine the machine down to a portable size to be used much as the deaf use hearing aids.

He and four aides developed the device recently after years of work. The machine is called an amauroscope, from the Greek "amauroscope," meaning "blind."

Dr. Enrique Wudka, an eye specialist, says the impulses sent through the wires enable a blind person to distinguish between light and shadow. In experiments, blind persons have had a sense of seeing flashes of light going on and off.

Del Campo says the experiments lead him to hope that the device recently after years of work. The machine is called an amauroscope, from the Greek "amauroscope," meaning "blind."

National Election Or Personality Contest?

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian election campaign has shown 36 per cent in the undecided category.

Pearson's campaign manager is a gamble. Surveys in the past showed that his popularity decreased when he campaigned actively.

Issues have taken a secondary role as the party leaders fight it out for the fourth time in seven years. The Nov. 8 election could be the last for the loser, possibly for both. Diefenbaker is 70, Pearson 68.

Diefenbaker, as always, is making a hard-hitting campaign, traveling through the country, speaking day and night and exuding confidence.

Pearson has kept his campaign mostly in low key, remaining in Ottawa most of the time. It has been the Liberal strategy to concentrate Pearson's efforts on a last-minute drive.

Both Pearson and Diefenbaker have been criticized for the way they conduct their campaigns. Some call Pearson's effort a noncampaign and suggest it is partly responsible for a lack of public enthusiasm.

Diefenbaker is accused of distortion and innuendo. The Toronto Star said he had "abandoned a controlled attack for a wild whirling dance down the low road."

Although public opinion polls give the Liberals a big edge in the election, both parties have had their eyes on the great mass of undecided voters. As

The Pearson camp is hoping that his campaign will peak on election eve and that perhaps Diefenbaker has miscalculated the pace of the campaign and fired most of his ammunition prematurely.

It is understood, however, that Diefenbaker has told some associates in confidence that he will give up the leadership if the party is defeated. And there are a half dozen Conservatives moving quietly to seek that leadership.

These include Davie Fulton, former justice minister; George Hees, former trade minister; Duff Roblin, premier of Manitoba; John Robarts, premier of Ontario; and Dalton Camp, president of the Conservative Association.

Diefenbaker, one-time criminal lawyer from Saskatchewan, first became Conservative leader in 1956. He led the party to victory over Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent in 1957. He came back to defeat Pearson in 1958 and 1962, but lost to Pearson in 1963.

Pearson, former career diplomat and Nobel Peace Prize winner, succeeded St. Laurent as Liberal leader in 1958. If he wins the Nov. 8 election by a clear majority he can head the government for as long as five years. He has not indicated what he will do if defeated.

TEENAGERS JAILED AFTER BURGLARY AT CASS TAVERN

BEARDSTOWN — Two teenage boys have been placed under $2,500 bond each and are being held in the county jail in connection with a break in at the Belaire tavern here.

The boys, aged 19 and 18, were arraigned before Associate Judge Fred W. Reither in Virginia Thursday and bond was set. They have been unable to furnish bail.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — American corporations will have about $45 billion in profits left over this year after they've paid their income and other taxes. What are they going to do with the money?

Well, just like your paycheck, it can go mighty fast these days.

First, American stockholders — perhaps some 20 million individuals today — are counting on year-end extras to boost already rising quarterly pay-out rates. This could increase this year's dividend payment total perhaps as high as $20 billion. It was $17.2 billion in 1964.

That would leave American corporations some $25 billion of retained earnings, up from $20 billion a year ago.

While some companies will boost their cash reserves or buy stocks and other securities for investment, industry as a whole will be spending a lot more than $25 billion this year for new ventures of one sort or another, as well as for increased activity in present fields. And industry will be borrowing billions because profits in themselves aren't enough to foot the bills for its expansion plans.

Investment this year in new plants and equipment is estimated by the Department of Commerce at $51 billion. This would be 13.4 per cent more than in 1964.

The $25 billion in retained profits obviously won't meet that bill. But it makes American corporations good credit risks for banks to lend money on.

And their loans to business have been higher this year than last. Various individual and institutional investors also will consider this year's record profits as justification for furnishing corporations with new funds by buying their bonds, debentures, or IOUs. And any issues of new stocks would look just that much better to investors.

Profits and spending can feed on each other. Many corporate boards of directors may increase their spending plans still more now that their firms are doing so well — and this will mean more outflow of cash, and more borrowing.

It doesn't stop at the seashores. American companies now expect their foreign branches, subsidiaries, or joint ventures to spend about $7.4 billion on plant and equipment this year. This would be an increase of $1.3 billion, or 20 per cent, over 1964 outlays.

Roodhouse Girl Wounded In Korean War; Is Winner Of Keeps Promise To God Poster Contest

By GEORGE ESPER

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Walt Hiskett made a promise to God, and he kept it. Hiskett, a native of Chicago, was wounded in the Korean War during the battle of the Chosin Reservoir in November 1950. He asked God to spare his life, and promised to serve the Lord in any way he could.

Hiskett was 20 years old then and a Marine sergeant. Today, he is a Navy lieutenant serving with the Marine Corps as a chaplain in the same battalion he served with during the Korean War as a squad leader — the 2nd Battalion, 7th Marines.

Hiskett, 35, spent three years as a construction worker in Chicago to save enough money to finance him through Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio. From Wittenberg, he went on to the Chicago Lutheran Seminary where he received a bachelor of divinity degree in May 1961. He served as assistant pastor of the Edgebrook Lutheran Church in the northwest section of Chicago until September 1962, when he came on active duty.

After serving as chaplain at the Naval Air Station, North Island, San Diego, Calif., and the U.S. Naval Training Center at San Diego, he volunteered for service in Viet Nam. He arrived in this country last July 7.

His wife, Marilyn, and two children, Gregory, 2, and David, 2½, an adopted child, reside in San Diego.

He lives in a tent in a valley about 15 miles southwest of Qui Nhon, and frequently goes up into the hills, where the Marines have their defensive perimeters, to visit the front-line men.

"In serving with the Marines, I feel it's some kind of a small token of repayment for the blessing that I received at the reservoir," he said.

"Our company was surrounded at Chosin Reservoir for six days. I got wounded on the first day. We thought the wounded would be evacuated. One helicopter came to evacuate us, but it was under sniper fire and had to take off before they could get any wounded to the chopper.

"On the third day, I was getting in bad shape with pain and I went back to the aid tent. That night the Chinese attacked again. We received word that the Chinese broke through the 3rd platoon and they were on their way toward the aid tent.

"At that time, the weapons platoon commander also had been wounded and was in the tent and said, 'When they come in here, just look them in the eye and show them you are Marines.' And then he said, 'All you men that are Catholic, you know your Rosary. Start saying it. The rest of you just start praying.' The first thing that came to my mind was a combination of the Lord's Prayer and the 23rd Psalm, 'The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.'"

"I also made special petitions for my life. I asked God to save me and keep me from being killed and to help the Marines push back the enemy.

"On the sixth day, one of the companies broke through to us from the forward elements. The next day we moved down south to Hagaru where I was evacuated to the hospital in Yokosuka, Japan."

Hiskett said he feels serving with the Marines "has probably been the most rewarding ministry I've had since I've been ordained."

As for the power of prayer, Hiskett said:

"I believe in it very strongly. I believe prayer can have an effect on one's life and that God does listen to prayer and will answer our prayers if it's His will rather than ours. I feel God used this experience to call me into the ministry."

'Yankee Stay'

Southeast Asian Stand On U.S.
In Viet Not Always Critical

By TONY ESCODA
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The storm over American military involvement in South Viet Nam isn't blowing Viet Nam just one way in Southeast Asia. One Malaysian observer cautions: "If Viet Nam goes Communist, there must be no against the United States, there must, for us there may be no is a current of 'Yankee, stay' tomorrow."

The most strident opposition power there, will mute Indonesia's anti-U.S. outcry. American policy are Thailand, from Indonesia and Cambodia, expected in the attitude of Cambodia. Its chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, sees China as the eventual victor.

Sihanouk is both scornful and angry toward the United States and what he calls the "pretended government" in Saigon. He broke relations with Washington last May after accusing U.S.-Vietnamese forces of intruding into Cambodian territory — where the Viet Cong are said to take refuge.

Singapore, Southeast Asia's newest independent state, has taken a somewhat less than warm line toward the American effort in Viet Nam. Its premier, Lee Kuan Yew, is pessimistic about U.S. ability to sweep back the Communist tide. He claims Americans know nothing about Southeast Asia — "that's why they are in a mess."

But in the Philippines, Thailand and Malaysia, official and popular opinion are running in favor of America's presence in South Viet Nam and its strikes against the Red North.

The Thais, in fact, think the Americans could have moved in a bit earlier.

The Thai air force has trained some 30 South Vietnamese pilots, and promises more of the same. Thai medical and development project teams are operating in South Viet Nam. Similar aid is being supplied by the Philippines whose foreign secretary, Mauro Mendez, is known to feel that no action taken by the United States in Viet Nam could be too strong. Neither President Diosdado Macapagal nor his chief opponent,

GOP Pins Hopes On New York Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — The electing municipal officials. New York City mayoral contest. Republican gubernatorial candidates are rated distinct underdogs in both New Jersey and Virginia, so the GOP has pinned its hopes for a 1965 comeback on the 43-year-old John V. Lindsay's attempt to end two decades of Democratic domination in New York's City Hall.

polls indicate a close race between Lindsay and City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, 58, the Democratic nominee to succeed retiring Mayor Robert F. Wagner. A victory could catapult Lindsay into the front rank of national Republican leaders. Besides New York, municipal balloting in Cleveland, Philadelphia and Louisville could provide evidence of renewed GOP strength after last year's disastrous loss to President Johnson's Democratic juggernaut. New Jersey, New York and Virginia are electing legislatures, while Kentucky is filling some seats. Ohio has a special congressional race. Lindsay, who has the support of the independent Liberal party, is battling to overcome a 3-1 Democratic registration advantage and a defection among some Republicans who are supporting publisher and author William F. Buckley Jr., running on the Conservative party ticket.

Beame, the city's top fiscal officer who whipped Wagner choice Paul R. Screvane in a bitter Democratic primary, has received the endorsement of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and the good wishes — but not direct endorsement — of President Johnson. In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes, 56, a surprise winner four years ago, is favored to defeat Republican State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., 51. Dumont's principal issue has been Hughes' refusal to recommend dismissal of Eugene Genovese, a professor at Rutgers State University, who said he would welcome a Viet Cong victory in Viet Nam. Hughes says to fire Genovese would be to violate academic freedom. Democrats hope for a Hughes victory big enough to help them capture both houses of the reapportioned legislature. In Virginia, both Democrat Mills E. Godwin Jr. and Republican A. Linwood Holton are courting the newly increased Negro vote. Godwin, 50, the present lieutenant governor and candidate of the state Democratic organization headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, is favored over Holton, 42, a Roanoke attorney, to succeed retiring Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr.

Rev. Elmer J. F. Arndt

Rev. Bruce Vawter, C.M.

A one-day "Conversation in Ecumenism" will be held Nov. 10 on the campus of Illinois College, when two midwest seminary theologians will keynote sessions designed to develop greater understanding of Christian unity.

Father Bruce Vawter, C.M., professor of sacred Scripture at Kenrick Catholic Seminary, and the Rev. Elmer J. F. Arndt, professor of historical theology and ethics at Eden Theological Seminary, will each deliver addresses and participate in seminars during the day.

The public is invited to all sessions, according to College Chaplain W. Robert McClelland. "In recent years there has been an increased emphasis on this kind of ecumenical conversation. This particular conference is aimed at the local level, rather than just for intellectual and church leaders," Chaplain McClelland said.

"We are extremely fortunate to obtain for the conference men of this calibre who can help bring the current ecumenical conversation into focus," he added.

Preliminary information and schedule brochures may be obtained from the chaplain's office at Illinois College. There will be no conference fee.

Father Vawter is editor of "Catholic Biblical Quarterly" and he is the author of "Conscience of Israel," "Bible in the Church," "Popular Explanation of the Four Gospels," and "Path through Genesis."

He has taught at Kenrick Seminary since 1952, with a leave of absence while serving four years on the faculty of St. Thomas Seminary in Denver, Colo.

A member of numerous religious and academic organizations, he holds the A.B., S.T.L., S.S.L., and S.S.D. degrees.

Dr. Arndt is author of "Sacramental Fellowship," "Faith We Proclaim," and other theological works.

He has taught at Eden Seminary since 1929 and has served on numerous denominational and Protestant commissions and boards.

He is a member of several theological and scholarly organizations, and he holds the B.D., M.A., S.T.M., Ph.D., Litt. D., and D.D. degrees.

Both Father Vawter and Dr. Arndt live in the St. Louis area and are active in national and world-wide Christian activities.

DESTINATION MOSCOW

At night, the entrance to Domodedovo terminal is ablaze with light.

The glass-walled, functionally furnished waiting room overlooks the passenger loading area.

Moscow has gone ultra-modern with its new Domodedovo airport rivaling in convenience and gleaming glass-walled splendor terminals in New York, London, Paris and other world traffic centers. Located in a forested area outside Moscow, it is linked with the capital by a special rail line. The largest air terminal in the Soviet Union, it is reported already to be serving passengers at a rate of 3,000 an hour.

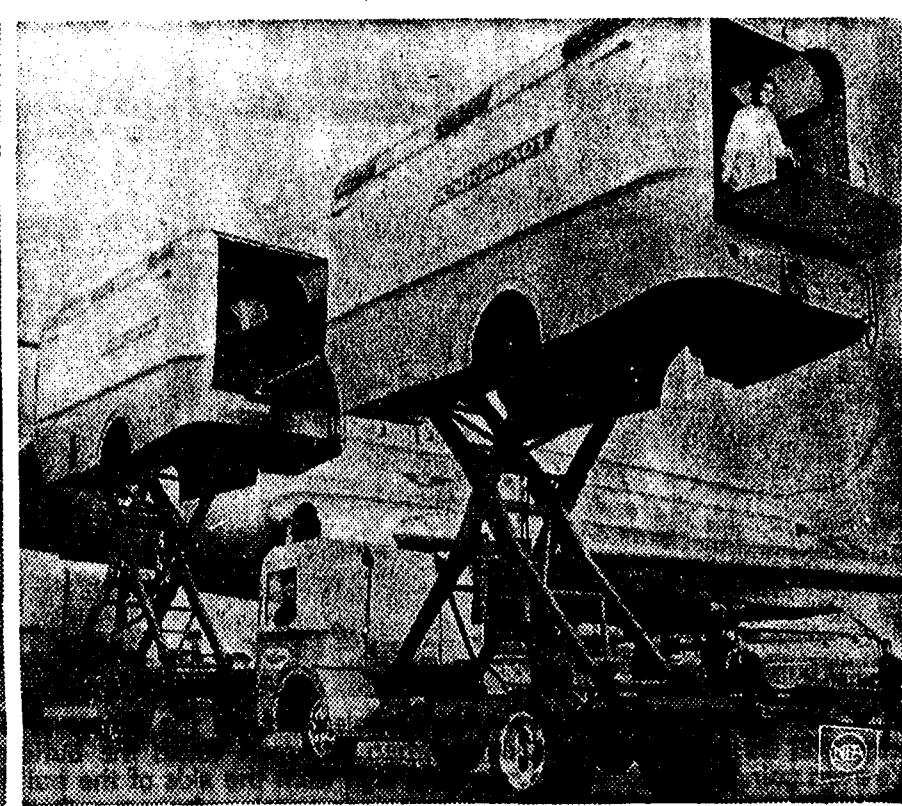

Planes load and discharge passengers before the glass wall of the waiting room.

Stewardesses on the official Soviet airline Aeroflot also have a trim, modern look.

Open space is also the feature of the baggage check-in hall.

READY FOR DEVELOPMENT — A section of downtown Joplin, three blocks east of Main street, awaits redevelopers. The area was cleared within the past year, and building basements were filled in preparation of potential building. The parking facilities at the left in the picture are owned by Macy's department store. The railroad tracks at the bottom of the picture mark the southern boundary line of the project area, which included 34 acres. At the right is Ray's wholesalers, a rehabilitation project undertaken by the owner at an estimated cost of $10,000 to $12,000.

WAITING TO BE FILLED — Empty building on a private firm. When a rehabilitation project is considered, the owner of the building must follow specific "progress" urban renewal in downtown Joplin, Missouri, while negotiations made by architects, complying with federal regulations, continue the rehabilitation.

NEW FACE OF JOPLIN — Ray's wholesalers, at the corner of 6th and Kentucky, will be completely remodeled when workmen finish the building. Ray says he's even going to remove the Coca Cola sign from the side of the building, to make the structure neater in appearance. New window casings have even been installed.

REHABILITATION PROJECT — Downtown landmark in Joplin is the 400-room Conner hotel, which dates back to early mining days in the city. Named for the town's first millionaire, the hotel lobby is decorated by a marble staircase and wall paneling. Future plans call for a second urban renewal project, which would include the rehabilitation of the building.

SITE OF NEW CITY PARK — A $100,000 municipal park, donated by a resident of Joplin, will be built in the block, seen in the lower middle of this picture. At the upper right will be the site of a $1,700,000 municipal building, with parking facilities. The park will include underground rest rooms, fountains with indirect lighting and a monument of a miner, dedicated to those men who helped develop the lead and zinc industry in the area.

BEFORE — Pearl Brothers store, seen above, was located on Main street. Through private enterprise, the store moved to another location, facing a new municipal parking lot and remodeled the store.

PEARL BROTHERS, PEARL AMONG BLIGHT — Newly stores. Other store owners in the lot have promised to clean up the remodeled location of Pearl Brothers in downtown Joplin clearly shows rear of the buildings in the area. ## Viet Nam War Still Has Small Impact On Most Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — For most Americans, the Viet Nam conflict is a war one reads about in the newspapers.

It hasn't changed their lives very much, unless they have a son or husband in military service or awaiting draft call — and it isn't likely to anytime soon, say the men in charge of U.S. mobilization plans.

Draft calls will continue high, reaching close to the levels of the Korean War. The military buildup will go on, with no end in sight. Currently, there are some 140,000 American troops in Viet Nam, with some predictions there will be 180,000 by the end of the year.

But Buford Ellington, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, says there is no need — barring an all-out war — to mobilize the home front as during World War II or even the Korean War — no rationing, no price or wage controls.

The Johnson administration counts on the nation's booming economy, much stronger than 15 years ago when the Korean War began, to carry the extra burden of Viet Nam with no dangerous inflation and only minor difficulties.

Guns and butter is, in effect, the theme frequently expressed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Although he feels American troops have stabilized the situation in Viet Nam, McNamara is known to feel that much hard fighting lies ahead.

So far, the heaviest impact of the buildup has been on the military services, particularly the Army which is increasing its strength by 235,000 men.

Ellington says there has been only a limited effect on industry.

The war in Viet Nam already has cost an extra $2.4 billion in two appropriations, and Pentagon sources are talking about several billion more next year.

Up to now, there has been no indication of any plans for special taxes to finance the conflict. But the added costs may rule out any more tax cuts in the foreseeable future.

"We are living in an economy of about $677 billion, where it was about $284 billion during the Korean conflict," Ellington said, in an interview. "Our industries are in full production. There's no follow-up of shortages from World War II that we found during the Korean conflict."

"We do not anticipate that major controls will be necessary because never before in history have we been so well prepared, as far as having on hand the items we'd need in case of an accelerated war. Our production is at an all-time high, and we think we're in good shape and prepared."

Already in effect is a system of priorities for defense materials, which currently is setting aside for military requirements small amounts of steel, copper, aluminum and nickel alloy.

"We see nothing in the future that would indicate there is going to be rationing," Ellington said. "A shortage would come about, as we see it, only if people should get excited."

He added, "stockpiles are a real guarantee against shortages and, actually, our stockpiles of many materials are at a higher level than we would anticipate a need for in any eventuality that might happen in conventional war."

Present plans call for stockpiling requirements for a three-year conventional war. OEP currently is trying to determine what requirements would be for nuclear war.

Ellington stressed that OEP is ready with plans to move swiftly if war comes, but this isn't due to Viet Nam. It's his agency's regular assignment.

Not only are orders mobilizing the economy ready, but the men to man many of the war-emergency jobs already are assigned to them — in the executive service, a 3,500-man group of executives already recruited by OEP in a program begun in 1955.

Some 2,500 of the executive reserves met early this week in Washington for a briefing on U.S. policies and plans for action in an emergency.

But if the civilian mobilization is strictly standby, there is no end in sight for military expansion. Pentagon officials decline to estimate how many men will be required.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, has predicted there will be 180,000 men in Viet Nam before the end of 1965. Some estimates range as high as 250,000 by mid-1966.

The draft call for December is 45,224, highest since 53,000 were inducted in May 1953, near the end of the Korean War.

The fighting in Viet Nam has caused a dip into ammunition stockpiles. Some ammunition has been shifted from Europe to Southeast Asia.

Each week, a stream of contracts is announced for ammunition, small arms, equipment, rockets and other war supplies. Several powder and ammunition plants have been brought back into production.

Pentagon officials say privately that several plants have been alerted to get ready to resume production of some aircraft now seeing action in Viet Nam. The new production will be needed to offset combat losses.

Expect 300 To Attend Mac Parents' Weekend

MacMurray College is making ready for the fifth annual Parents' Weekend set for next Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 5-7. More than 300 parents are expected to visit the campus.

Theatre In 45th Year

The theatre production, directed by Dr. Ray Holcombe, head of the Speech and Theatre Arts department, will be presented both Friday and Saturday evenings and again on Sunday afternoon to give parents ample opportunity to attend this satirical fantasy which opens the 45th season of the MacMurray College Theatre.

Repeat performances of the Choir Revue also are scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings. This year's production will feature selections from the Broadway musical "Wildcat." The choir numbers will be under the direction of Dr. Henry E. Busche. Selections by the MacMurray Singers will be conducted by Dr. Charles Fisher, head of the Music department at MacMurray.

On Saturday, parents will see MacMurray sports in action. The Women's Recreation Association has arranged a hockey game with Greenville College Saturday morning. Game time is 10 a.m. on the hockey rink.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—Hog prices were 60 cents to $1 a hundredweight higher in Chicago last week on receipts of 24,000 head. The receipts were 24,300 the previous week and 39,300 a year ago.

Barrows and gilts worked higher until Thursday when some weakness was encountered. Reduced receipts at the 12 principal markets and a higher carlot dressed pork trade were bullish factors.

The average weight of barrows and gilts was estimated at 232 pounds, the heaviest for any week since June and compared with 230 pounds a week ago and 231 pounds a year ago. With farmers busy with the fall harvest, hog receipts generally were lower. The 12 market supply and direct marketing in interior Iowa and Southern Minnesota totaled 570,000 head compared with 624,000 the previous week and 698,000 a year ago.

At major livestock terminals slaughter steers and heifers sold steady to 50 cents a hundredweight higher, except at St. Joseph, Mo., and Kansas City where prices were steady to 50 cents lower.

Chicago cattle receipts of 23,500 compared with 31,100 the previous week and 39,400 a year ago. The 12 market receipts were 284,100, compared with 236,600 the previous week and 284,400 a year ago.

Slaughter lambs and ewes sold steady to 50 cents higher in Chicago principally because of the higher dressed lamb trade. The 12 market receipts were 75,800 compared with 72,400 the previous week and 95,300 a year ago.

Polaroid Clinic To Help Cure Fuzzy Pictures

Polaroid camera owners plagued with fuzzy, too light or too dark pictures are invited to attend a special clinic at Hamilton's restaurant Wednesday, November 3, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The special clinic is sponsored by the Camera Shop and is designed to demonstrate the 10-second cameras, their features and advantages.

Proper techniques necessary to obtain good, sharp pictures rather than ordinary snapshots will be both demonstrated and taught.

All phases of Polaroid photography plus a complete line of equipment will be on display along with professional guidance.

Bob Linebaugh said, "With color pictures now an intricate part of Polaroid cameras, it is more important than ever that the photographer understand all of the working techniques involved."

The clinic is free to the public and coffee will be served during the evening.

Group Attends 'Keep Illinois Beautiful' Meet

Mayor Byron Holkenbrink, Chamber of Commerce Manager Don Atkins, and Garden Club members, Mrs. Courtney Crouch Wright, Adalaid McCarthy and Emma Mae Leonard attended the "Keep Illinois Beautiful" conference in Springfield Saturday at the invitation of Gov. Otto Kerner.

Governor Kerner, his Beautification Co-ordinator Francis Lorenz and the Illinois Jaycees hosted a Keep Illinois Beautiful Conference to promote public interest and participation in the beautification program. The program was held in the Illinois Building at the State Fairgrounds. A number of prominent speakers outlined the best methods and procedures to be followed in preserving and restoring the state's natural beauty resources.

A feature of the morning session was the planting of an oak tree, the state's official tree, by Governor Kerner. A number of Illinois residents who attended the White House Conference on Natural Beauty last spring participated in the program.

Robert Sullivan, President of the Illinois Jaycees, explained the progress of the Illinois Jaycees' Keep Illinois Beautiful, Inc. to date and their plans for the future to work with all beautification committees who want or need assistance and information. Communities are now conducting clean-up campaigns, litter removal drives, reforestation projects, abandoned vehicle removal, establishment of public parks and park improvements.

President Sullivan also stressed the need of funds from interested persons and through membership contributions from the business communities in order to establish a film library which will be available to local groups to be shown in their communities. Beautification Kits and material will also be available to interested persons by writing Keep Illinois Beautiful, Inc., P. O. Box 373, Springfield, Illinois.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks last week rose 3.5 to a record 355.0. During October the AP average advanced 11.1.

Many analysts commented on the cooling-off in many of the fast-rising electronics, office equipments and others, which have featured the latest phase of the bull market, and the beginning of a more investment-type approach to the list.

Volume simmered down to 36,007,860 shares from 43,205,860 the previous week, and was the smallest turnover in three weeks.

The list emerged with a slight gain on Thursday when stocks were buffeted by conflicting influences. One was news that American Telephone, the most widely-owned issue on the Big Board, faced investigation of its rates by the Federal Communications Commission.

The other was news that Chrysler had reported record profits and was doubling its dividend.

On the New York Exchange corporate bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $64.78 million, compared to $76.74 million in the previous week.

Secrecy Surrounds Romance

All the acting press secretary at the Texas White House, James Moyers, would say was that:

"I talked to the ranch this morning. The staff tells me Luci is there, Lynda is there, Mr. Nugent is there. In keeping with her previous visits on many occasions, Luci usually brings a friend or friends. Mr. Nugent has been at the ranch before."

"Other than these facts, I cannot add anything else. I wish I could tell you something more. But that's all I can say."

In view of Johnson's status as commander in chief of the military, a loud laugh rolled through the briefing room when a reporter asked about young Nugent's draft status. Moyers said he hadn't the slightest idea.

Some of his friends understand Nugent is classified 1A and that he has been thinking of going into the Air Force for six months.

Nugent was graduated from Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis., last June about the time Luci was finishing high school at the National Cathedral School for Girls in Washington.

His home is Waukegan, Ill., but he has a job with the federal government in Washington, now, with the Advisory Board on Higher Education.

His father, Gerard P. Nugent Sr., an investment counselor in Waukegan, said Friday night he knew of no engagement plans for Pat and Luci.

The young folks have been dating steadily and exchanging visits since they got acquainted through mutual friends—one of them brought Nugent along to Luci's surprise graduation party at the White House last June.

Rose Allison Of Kinderhook Dies Saturday

Blueboys, IDS Romp To Easy Homecoming Wins

Sparkling Offense Nets 46-0 Shutout

By BUFORD GREEN

An unstoppable Illinois College offense ran wild Saturday afternoon, as the fired-up Blueboys celebrated their homecoming with a spectacular 46-0 romp over Central Methodist College of Missouri.

IC scored three times in the first 11 minutes of the game and went on to notch a lopsided 33-0 halftime bulge, scoring everytime they got their hands on the ball in the first half.

For the game the Blueboys ground out an impressive 301 yards rushing, and added 66 more through the air, all in the first half. IC controlled the ball for 79 plays in the game, to 46 by Central Methodist. The difference in the first half was a significant 43-14 on offensive plays.

IC's defensive effort was again outstanding, giving up only 66 yards on the ground and 29 passing, forcing the visitors into three fumbles and two interceptions.

The pace for the game was set by the Blueboys right at the opening kickoff. The hosts took over on their own 35 and marched 65 yards in only 11 plays to score. Big plays in that scoring series were a 14-yard Bucky Sullivan pass to Butch Bending, long runs by Phil Snowden and two by Sullivan. From the one Sullivan sneaked over for the initial score. Van Ray booted the PAT for a 7-0 lead with 9:38 still left to play in the opening frame.

Herb Smith scooped up a Central fumble on their second play from scrimmage on the 36, setting up another quick score. Ivan Houston and Snowden pounded out the remaining distance down to the 11 from where Sullivan boot-legged the final yards for another score less than three minutes after the first. Ray again booted the extra point for a 14-0 difference.

Get Another Fumble. Dick Dickens gave the Blueboys another scoring shot when he fell on Central's second fumble, on the first play after the kickoff, on the Central Methodist 27.

A quick-pitch to Snowden piled up 12 yards to the 10, from where Houston swept his left end to go in standing up, making it 20-0 with 3:14 to play in the first quarter.

Late in the first period IC held Central Methodist with only one first down and took over on their own 20 to march 80 yards to another TD. Biggest carrier on the march was the Blueboys' leading rusher, Tom Rowland. Two penalties on the visitors aided the drive.

John Leucheneft carried for 14 and a first down to the Central Methodist, from where Snowden punched over and a 26-0 difference.

Illinois College put together a 60-yard scoring march late in the first half, with Snowden and Sullivan rushing for most of the ground gains. Rowland passed to Dale Hill for 27 yards to the 19 and Sullivan tossed to John O'Hara for a 26-yard scoring aerial two plays later. Ray booted his third PAT for a 33-0 halftime margin.

IC piled up 15 first downs in the first half alone, holding CMC to only two. The Blueboys rushed for 183 yards on the ground, added 67 in the air and held Central to only nine yards gained on the ground.

Defensive 3rd Period. The third quarter turned out to be the only defensive one of the contest, with neither team able to move for over one first down. An interception by Dennis Watson and three defensive stops by the IC line kept the Blueboys in good field position in the period.

The Blueboys got back into the scoring act early in the final 15 minutes when they marched from the Central 30, after Watson's interception late in the third, to paydirt in nine plays.

Houston, Bud Lawrence and Rowland legged it down to the three from where Rowland swept right end for the six points. Ray split the uprights again for a 40-0 bulge.

An interception by John Minor and a recovered fumble by John Frazier stopped any Central threats on the next two series. The final score of the afternoon was started after Frazier's recovery, the Blueboys moving from midfield to a TD in only seven plays.

Don Nelson carried for 12 and a first down to the 37, and Jim Shelt's eight-yard pickup plus a 15-yard walkoff on Central moved the ball to the 14. From there Jerry Sapp legged seven yards and Lawrence fooled the entire CMC defense on a seven-yard bootleg play for six points, and the 46-0 final.

Illinois College now holds a 42 record with two games remaining.

Carthage 14, North Central 7. NAPERVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Quarterback Bert Simpson's 55-yard pass to halfback Bob Olson in the fourth quarter gave Carthage a 14-7 victory over North Central in a CCI football game Saturday.

Carthage went into the lead in the first period when Tom Fugette picked up a fumble and ran 55 yards. North Central tied the score in the second period on a 36-yard pass from quarterback Luther Selbe to end Dick Janzaruk.

Carthage, bidding for the title, now has a 4-0 record. North Central has 1-3.

PILEUP: This mass of humanity piles up in front of IC quarterback Bucky Sullivan after the Blueboy field general was dropped at the line of scrimmage, one of the few times IC was held with no gain Saturday, as the Blueboys smashed Central Methodist of Missouri, 46-0. Sullivan is seen on the ground in the lower left.

OUT OF REACH: Illinois College's Phil Snowden evades the desperate lunge of a Central Methodist defender to score one of seven IC touchdowns Saturday. Snowden was a leading runner in the lopsided 46-0 romp.

Nebraska Comeback Nets 16-14 Victory

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Fred Duda, a tricky runner and bold passer, led third-ranked Nebraska to a tremendous comeback to a 16-14 victory over Missouri Saturday.

A winning 26-yard field goal by Larry Wacholtz with 5:66 left in the game capped Nebraska's uphill fight after trailing 14-0 in the first quarter.

Michigan, scoring on a 52-yard pass from Wally Gabler to Jack Clancy on its first play, picked up five first half touchdowns and steamrolled to a 50-14 Big Ten football victory over Wisconsin Saturday.

Gabler scored twice on runs of one and five yards as the Wolverines snapped a four-game losing streak. It was their first win over Wisconsin in their last four meetings and the first over the Badgers since 1950.

Two of Michigan's first half touchdowns were set up by pass interceptions and another by a fumble recovery.

Rick Sygar scored on a two-yard plunge and Dave Fisher scampered 12 yards for the other first half scores.

Sygar threw a 26-yard pass to Clancy and Ernie Sharpe went in from a yard out for Michigan's second half touchdowns.

The Wolverines got only two quick points at the start of the third quarter when Wisconsin quarterback Chuck Burt recovered his own fumble in the end zone following a punt by Stan Kemp which went out of bounds on the Wisconsin one.

The Badgers scored first on an 83-yard kickoff return by Richard Schumitsch and again with little more than three minutes remaining when John Boyajian went in from six yards out.

Wisconsin 50 14 21 50-14. Michigan 16 14 15 16-14.

Central Mich. 9, Western Ill. 7.

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) — Western Illinois lost the football season times on fumbles, and the IAC ball game 9-7 to Central Michigan Saturday.

Central scored in the first period on a one-yard plunge by halfback Jim Actelli, but the extra point attempt failed.

The Western Leathernecks went out in front in the third quarter when Norria Steward raced 69 yards for a touchdown and Bill Dudley kicked the point.

After Central recovered a Leatherneck fumble in the fourth quarter, Bruce Cameron provided the winning margin with a 26-yard field goal.

A crowd of 11,250 watched Central spoil Western Illinois' homecoming.

Tigers Run Wild In 31-12 Victory

By SANDY PETERSEN

A consistently strong ground offensive headed by the running of halfbacks Dan Curtis and Ray Richardson moved the ISD Tigers to the .500 level as they rolled up an impressive 31-12 homecoming win over the Missouri school for the deaf Saturday afternoon.

Curtis and Richardson recorded 200 of the Tiger's 291 yards gained on the ground in pacing the club to its third victory of the season.

The Tiger offense pounded for 12 first downs in the contest, never forcing themselves into a punting situation, while the defensive squad grabbed a pair of key fumbles in the one-sided battle.

Missouri opened the scoring on their first play from scrimmage as left-half Bob Powell carried over from the eight. The play followed an apening kickoff return of 67 yards by halfback Frank Crouch, and left the visiting Eagles a early 6-0 margin.

Once the Tigers gained possession of the ball there was no stopping them as they marched 68 yards in seven plays for the equalizer. Richardson carried the ball in from the eight yard line for the locals to knot the score at 6-6.

A punt of only five yards set up the Tiger's second score of the afternoon as they took possession on the Missouri 43 after the ISD defensive unit had held the visitors to only five yards.

After a six yard gainer up the middle by fullback Ron Dodd, Richardson took a handoff from quarterback Terry Storey, slamming off right tackle and into the clear on a 37 yard paydirt joust. The attempted run for the point after failed, leaving the local's with a 12-6 edge as the first quarter came to a close.

Again holding the Missouri club to five yards the Tigers took over on their own 36. An eight yard gainer by Richardson and sprints of eleven and six yards by Dodd moved the Tigers into Missouri territory with 2:00 gone in the second period.

A pass from Storey to Richardson netted the locals 13 more before Curtis ripped off 20 yards, going to the Missouri 56. Dodd then carried the ball in two plays later on a slant Tigers an 18-6 lead.

Missouri, however, bounced back before the close of the half, scoring on a 48 yard double reverse pattern. Crouch legged the distance for the visitors on their second play from scrimmage after the Tigers were forced to yield possession at midfield.

Earlier in the frame the Tigers drove to the Missouri before 15 yards walkoffs and pair of 10 yard losses were assessed against the locals.

ISD appeared to have things under control as the second half got underway, taking the kickoff on the 46 and marching to the Missouri 13 in seven plays. The Tigers lost possession there, however, as a pitch-out attempt went amiss, giving the ball to the visitors.

Trailing by 18-12 Missouri moved quickly to midfield, sparked by a 26 yard quick opener up the middle by Crouch, but fell back into their own territory following two fifteen yard walkoffs assessed for holding.

Holding the ball third and 25 on their own 35 yard marker, Missouri attempted to run around left end. Tiger guard Mitch Ballinger despatched the play, however, tearing the ball loose from the ball carrier.

Ballinger's recovery gave the

Ole Miss Stuns Louisiana State

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi, playing like the mighty Rebel teams of the past, stunned crippled Louisiana State 23-0 Saturday and virtually knocked the fifth-ranked Tigers out of the Southeastern Conference football race.

Hard-hitting Mississippi defenders captured four LSU fumbles and picked off three passes as the Tigers bowed for the second time in three conference games.

Three of the LSU errors were converted into Mississippi points as the rebounding Rebels rolled to their third straight triumph.

Halfback Mike Dennis scored twice for Mississippi, on a one-yard run and a five-yard sprint. Louisiana State, which had averaged 24 points a game in winning five of its first six starts, never threatened as its attack sputtered with quarterback Nelson Stokley on the sidelines.

The LSU passing and running standouts hurt a leg when he was tackled in the first quarter and never returned.

A crowd of 11,250 watched Central spoil Western Illinois' homecoming.

NUMBERS HOLD TRUE TO I.C.

"Man Alive in '65." No, that's not an advertising slogan, it's the Illinois College football motto for 1965. Not that a reason is needed, but that slogan was arrived at by some interesting facts with numbers the past four years.

The Blueboys were 6-2 in 1962, 5-3 in 1963 and 4-4 in 1964, so why not "Man Alive in '65?" The IC victory Saturday afternoon gave the Blueboys a 4-2 record for the year, and although that doesn't rhyme, it's not too bad. The problem is, to avoid a "something-and-6" in 1966.

That 46-0 IC outburst over Central Methodist Saturday wasn't exactly expected, but it came as no great shock either, as season statistics will attest.

Entering the game, IC was third in the District 20 NAIA rushing totals, with a 181-yard per game rushing average. They pounded out 301 yards Saturday. The fact that Central never got close to scoring also was no great surprise. The Blueboys entered the game with the third best rushing defense in the District, giving up an average of 100 yards per game. They allowed only 66 Saturday.

The Blueboys were second in passing defense, giving up an average of 74 a game. They allowed only 29 against Central. On total team defense they were ranked second, allowing an average of 174 yards a game. Halfback Tom Rowland was third in rushing yards, an average of 80 per game.

The world-famous Harlem Globetrotters have denoted an interest in appearing in Jacksonville this year. A team representative recently contacted District 117 Superintendent J. A. Mann about an appearance in the city Dec. 31, New Year's Eve.

Any interested group may contact Mr. Mann before Tuesday. The Globetrotters have a Czech dance group appearing with them, a group to appear on the Ed Sullivan show Dec. 12, and will be en route for a TV appearance in St. Louis on the same date. The team interested in appearing here is the first team of the famous touring group.

The YMCA basketball league in Jacksonville begins its 16-week schedule this Wednesday, with a pair of games at the Jonathan Turner gym, beginning at 7:15. There are now six teams involved.

The public is invited to attend all games of the league, without charge. We would like to put in a plug for this league, which has recreation as its only aim.

Public interest would certainly make this league go, and take up a rather large gap in recreational deficits for this age group.

Eddy's 55-Yard TD Sparks Irish 29-3

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Nick Eddy's 55-yard romp with a screen pass on the final play of the first half gave Notre Dame the halftime lead and the necessary momentum for a crunching 29-3 victory over Navy Saturday.

Until Eddy's storybook dash into the end zone as the clock ticked off the final second of the half, it appeared that the underdog Midshipmen were destined to hold an upset-making 3-0 lead. But the Middles quickly learned that history does repeat itself.

Last year in Philadelphia another underdog Navy team had held Notre Dame to a scoreless tie until the same Nick Eddy took a swing pass and rambled 74 yards for a second quarter touchdown to pave the way towards a 40-0 Irish triumph.

Eddy's run on a screen pass from Bill Zloch was all the fourth-ranked Irish needed to set them off. Notre Dame pounded across three more touchdowns in the third quarter to turn the game into a rout.

Notre Dame took the second half kickoff and stayed strictly on the ground, driving 64 yards in 13 plays with Zloch sneaking into the end zone.

The Middles had the ball for only two plays before Tom Leiser fumbled and Harry Long recovered for the Irish on the Navy 25. Again Notre Dame stayed on the ground with Larry Conjar plunging over from straight up the first of three the one-yard line to give the Irish a 21-3 lead with 3:15 to play in the third period.

Exactly 45 seconds later, Navy was forced to punt and Nick Rassas took the ball and returned it 66 yards for the final Irish touchdown. Bill Wolski ran for two extra points.

Navy 0 3 0 0-3. Notre Dame 0 7 22 0-29.

Bradley 29, Illinois State 12. PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Quarterback Bob Carress passed for three touchdowns in leading Bradley to a 29-12 victory over Illinois State.

He made scoring throws of 19 yards to end Ron Dwyer in the second period, four yards to Dwyer in the third and 10 yards to fullback Rollie Inskeep, also in the third.

Bradley also scored on the ground in the second period, when tackle Nelson Jones blocked a kick, recovered it and raced five yards for a touchdown.

Illinois State got on the scoreboard on an eight yard run by quarterback Mike Phillips in the second quarter and on a two yard plunge by Rick Sheamansky in the final period.

Bradley now stands 2-5 for the season and Illinois State 0-7.

ONE REASON The San Francisco 49ers got off to a surprisingly good start in the National Football League was quarterback John Brodie, getting ready to toss here.

GRANT, GIBSON LEAD LEAGUES IN GOPHER BALLS

NEW YORK (AP) — Right-handers Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cards and Jim (Mudcat) Grant of the Minnesota Twins each gave up 34 home runs to lead the major leagues in 1965, the final averages revealed Friday.

Gibson allowed four more gopher balls than Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, the National League runner-up. Gibson pitched 299 innings and Drysdale 308.

Statistics compiled by the Associated Press also showed that Washington's Phil Ortega permitted 33 home runs, only one less than Grant although he worked 90 fewer innings than the Twins' ace. Grant hurled 270 innings and Ortega 180 in American League competition.

100-1 SHOT VICTOR

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (AP) — With a 100-1 shot winning the first race, the daily double at Narragansett Park Friday paid a whopping $3,513 for $2.

SCORING BOUND: ISD's Danny Curtis starts off on an eight-yard touchdown run in the second half of the Tiger's 31-12 homecoming triumph over Missouri Deaf. Leading the blocking is Terry Story (12).

The play came on a double reverse, as most of the linemen can be seen drawn to the opposite side of the field.

Crimson's Offense Drags In 6-0 Loss

SPRINGFIELD — Jacksonville's offense had its poorest game of the year Saturday afternoon as Springfield's offense dragged JHS with a 6-0 Capitols Conference loss.

A seven-yard scoring pass late in the second quarter was the only score of the game, as Jacksonville's offense was unable to move at all in the first half and the Crimsons' usual strong running game was limited to only 70 yards in the game.

The defensive-minded contest turned into practically a battle of punts, each team being forced to kick eight times. The brightest spot for Jacksonville was its passing game, as quarterbacks Danny Brooks and Rich Coble put the ball in the air 22 times, connecting on ten, for 88 yards.

The loss drops Jacksonville to a 2-4-1 record overall, 1-3 in the conference. Lanphier evened its record to 3-3-1, 2-2 in the league. Jacksonville picked up four first downs in the opening period, the only ones registered in the first 12 minutes. The first took them out of a hole at their own two, with Larry Angelo, Harry Gollmer and Larry Norrup carrying the ball.

The Crimsons gained two more late in the quarter, marching from their own 35 to the Lanphier 20 before bogging down. On that series Brooks hurled 18 yards to end Steve Tavender and later for five to Tavender who lateraled to Coble for five more. Two running plays and a short pass completion killed the JHS drive at the 15 after a 50-yard march. Lanphier started their scoring drive midway in the second quarter, with quarterback Harry Holderread passing for 28 yards to halfback Harry Miles on the big play. The Lions marched steadily from their own 31 and made it in on 11 plays.

Tear Up Defense
That series was the only time all day that the Lions were actually able to run through the Crimson defense for big gains. Miles chewed up good yardage on five carries in the drive. With a third and five at the seven, Holderread hurled to halfback Bob Connolly at the five and Connolly legged it the rest of the way for a 6-0 advantage with 1:10 left in the half. The kick for the PAT was wide.

The third quarter was predominately an exchange of punts, with JHS getting the only first down of the frame when Gollmer ripped off eight yards and Nortrup added seven more.

Jacksonville got their biggest break of the day when they took over on their own 38 and were moved to the Lanphier 45 on a facemask penalty of 15 yards against the Lions.

From the 45 the Crimsons made it to the 35 of Lanphier before being forced to punt with 3:30 left in the game. Jacksonville got the ball twice more in the remaining time, thanks to two fine stands by their defense. The last time gave the Crimsons the ball on their own 35. From there Brooks passed eight yards to Wes Hillgoss and the speedy Nortrup chalked up 17 yards

Late Field Goal Pushes Buckeyes Past Minnesota

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Funk booted an 18-yard field goal with only 1:17 left in the game Saturday, giving Ohio State a hard-fought 11-10 victory over Minnesota in a Big Ten struggle before 84,359.

The Buckeyes, keeping their slim hopes for a conference championship alive with their third victory in four starts, drove 89 yards on the passing of Don Unverferth to set up Funk's fifth three-point shot of the season.

The Gophers made a dramatic bid to pull out the victory, moving 63 yards to Ohio State's eight-yard line in the waning moments of play. With only 14 seconds showing on the clock, Deryl Ramey's field goal attempt from the 15-yard line was wide to the left, and the Bucks had their triumph.

Minnesota, losing its first game in the league after three triumphs, had taken a 10-8 advantage late in the third period when Ramey kicked a 32-yard field goal.

Auburn Upsets Mighty Florida On 28-17 Count

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Quarterback Alex Bowden threw two touchdown passes and linebacker Bill Cody scored on a pass interception and a recovered fumble Saturday to give Auburn a 28-17 upset football victory over seventh-ranked Florida.

A crowd of 45,000 howling fans saw Auburn win its 15th homecoming game in a row, this one a regionally televised affair. It was Florida's 11th consecutive unsuccessful attempt to beat the Tigers on Auburn's home grounds.

An inspired, come-from-behind Auburn team struck with swift fury for 14 points in the third quarter after a listless first half had netted the Tigers only 11 yards rushing and 44 in the air.

Second-stringer Bowden gave the victorious Tigers the lift they needed. Regular quarterback Tom Bryan had had no luck moving the ball against a tough Gator defense in the Southeastern Conference game.

Florida's flashy quarterback, Steve Spurrier, connected for two touchdown passes.

SMU Knocks Off Texas By 31-14 In Big Upset

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Sophomore Jim Hagle's 93-yard touchdown run broke open a tight game and Ronnie Reel's 58-yard return of an intercepted pass clinched it Saturday as Southern Methodist beat Texas 31-14 to stay in the running for the Southwest Conference football championship.

Southern Methodist jammed three touchdowns into the final period to humiliate the proud Longhorns, ninth ranked nationally.

Dennis Partee's 28-yard field goal and Mike Livingston's 32-yard pass that John Roderick wrestled away from Phil Harris and Gary Moore in the end zone gave SMU a 10-0 lead at the half.

SMU now has a 3-2-1 season record, Texas 4-3.

Clan Harriers Place Fourth At Greenville

GREENVILLE — A strong Washington University harrier squad placed men in the second, fourth, seventh, eleventh and nineteenth slots here Saturday afternoon to gain first place honors in the Second Annual Greenville College Cross Country Invitational.

MacMurray finished fourth in the field of six.

Gary Schmidt from Westminster College captured individual honors in the meet, covering the four mile course in 21:22.

High point men for the Clansmen included: Dennis Mueller (6th), Marc Matrangola (12th) and Jim McGinnis (13th).

The Highlander harriers will conclude their season next Saturday when they travel to Wheaton to compete in the NCAA small college championship meet.

Clan Captures 2-0 Win Over Wheaton

WHEATON — Two goals in the last three minutes of play ended a scoreless deadlock here Saturday, and carried the MacMurray Highlanders to a 2-0 Midwest Collegiate Soccer Conference triumph over the host Wheaton Crusaders.

Freshmen John Mucci and John MacNearley tallied the markers for the Clan who moved their season record to 3-2-2 for the season.

The contest was a defensive battle all the way, with the Crusaders outpacing the Highlanders 23-15 in the shots on goals department. Midwest All-American goal tender Bob Gay handled 16 saves for the shutout, while his Wheaton counterpart, Bill Bott, turned away six Highlanders attempts.

Gay, along with fullbacks John Wittlieb and Ted Lippert and halfback Doc Scherzer were cited by Clan mentor Fred Taube as playing their best game for the Macmen. After 85 minutes of scoreless play, the Highlanders broke into the scoring as Mucci booted one home from his right wing slot. Mucci, a frosh from Del Norte, Florida, who has only been out for the sport three days, gained the tally with an assist from right inside Victor Moyo.

With less than a minute remaining in the game, MacNearley iced the game for the Clan as his shot from some 20 yards out skipped past Bott into the Crusader nets. Center-forward Ed Bhumchitra was credited with an assist on the play.

The loss drops the Crusaders to a 5-5 mark on the season. The Highlanders return home next Saturday to face Lake Forest College, before they close their schedule on the road at the University of St. Louis on November 10th.

28 Hopefuls Out For Basketball

Twenty-eight varsity basketball hopefuls have begun practice at Illinois College, and at least four more are expected to begin pre-season trials upon completion of the Blueboy football schedule on Nov. 13.

Coach Bill Merris will have returning intact his starting five from the last semester of his 1964-65 season. The Blueboys jelled at year-end and handily won three of the last four games played in February.

"They began to click at the end of the year, and I just hope we can pick up where we left off — we want to return Illinois College to a winning season," Merris says.

The Blueboys won 5 and lost 16, while finishing 4-4 in the Prairie College Conference. Nine lettermen will be returning, including guards Brenton "Pete" Gallatin (5'11") sophomore from Martinsville, Ill., and Max Greer (5'10") senior from Rushville, Ill., and center Dick Dickens (6'4") sophomore from New Boston, Ill.

Other returning lettermen include guards Gene Gouley (5'10") junior from Carrollton, Ill., and John "Bucky" Sullivan (5'9") junior from Routh, Ill., and forwards Dick Clough (6' junior from Carrollton), and Dan Runkle (6'1") sophomore from Rushville.

Other experienced men from last year who will rejoin the squad are Denny Gregory (Bluffs), Ken Stauffer (Perry), and Paul Baumgardner (San Jose, Ill.).

20 Freshmen Out
Twenty freshmen and one transfer student are vying for varsity positions, including sophomore Bob Gillingham of Carrollton, Ill., who was a top high school scorer in 1964.

"Even though I'm still working in football and I have been with the men only one day, I feel that our freshman squad has several players who will add depth to the varsity team, as well as form a good freshman team," Merris says.

Twelve junior varsity games have been scheduled in the second year of jayvee play. The regular season opens Nov. 30 at Culver-Stockton College, and the first home game will be Dec. 4 against Millikin University. Iowa Wesleyan and Westminster of Fulton, Mo. have been added to the schedule for the first time.

The 21-game card ends Feb. 22. According to Merris, "Based on high school performances, I expect good results from several newcomers, including Charles Martin (forward, White Hall), Kevin Lawrence (guard, Lincoln, Ill.), Russell Ross (forward, Carrollton), Denny Dunham (guard, Byron, Ill.), Ted Pardo (guard, Pinckneyville, Ill.), Mike Harris (forward, Beardstown), Mickey Eichorst (guard, Aurora, Ill.), Rich Phillips (center, Rushville), Rich Daly (center, Chicago St. Ignace High School), William Van Schyndel (center, Babbitt, Minn.), Larry Great-house (forward, Streator, Ill.), and Roger Spencer (guard, Winchester).

Watching Others

Small College Results

Northern 20, Eastern 11

CHARLESTON, Ill. (AP) — Northern Illinois ran its football victory streak to seven Saturday as the Huskies downed Eastern Illinois 20-11 in an IAC game.

The Huskies' Leigh Gilbert plunged over from the one yard line to open the scoring in the first period. The Panthers snapped back when Dale Doehring intercepted a pass and stepped four yards into the end zone.

Eastern trailed 7-6, until a 5-yard field goal in the second quarter by Ed Wold put the Panthers ahead 9-7.

In the third play, Northern's James Wendler smashed across from the one yard line and Army Vesley ran 35 yards for the Huskies' final score.

Northern Quarterback Ron Christian was tackled in his own end zone by John Ganley of Eastern in the final period to boost the Panthers total to 11 points.

Principia 14, Rose Poly 7

ELSAH, Ill. (AP) — Principia College turned a fumbled punt into a fourth quarter touchdown for a 14-7 victory over Rose Polytechnic at Saturday, forcing a three-way tie for the championship of the Illinois Football Conference.

Principia scored first on a plunge by quarterback Farley Helms after Principia recovered a fumble on the Rose 17.

With 47 seconds left in the half, Lon Minarik ran six yards and Gib Bosworth kicked to tie the score.

Then Jim Evans recovered a fumbled punt on the Rose 10 in the third period and tailback Tuck Spaulding crashed from the one on the first play of the fourth period for the victory.

Tulsa 52, So. Illinois 12

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Bill Anderson and Howard Twiley combined their lightning-like passing and receiving talents Saturday in leading Tulsa to a 52-12 football victory over Southern Illinois University.

Twiley, a 180-pound end, set two records. He caught two touchdowns passing boosting his NCAA record career total to 24. Twiley was on the receiving ground and 158 through the air, breaking the 16 NCAA reception mark he set in the Memphis State game earlier this season.

Anderson breezed along, passing for four Tulsa touchdowns and running one in from ten yards away.

Anderson's 42 pass completions set a single game record, breaking his own 39 NCAA pass completion mark also set against Memphis state.

Winona St. 48, Elmhurst 12

WINONA, Minn. (AP) — Quarterback Davis Usgaard fired five touchdown passes to lead a first and goal on the one. A Winona State to a 48-12 smashing of previously unbeaten Elmhurst, Ill., College.

Elmhurst, ranked 10th in the nation by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, suffered its first defeat in six games.

Grabowski Sets Rushing Record

By ART HARRIS

CHAMPAIGN—If Purdue quarterback Bob Giese doesn't believe in the hobgoblins of Halloween he does now, but Illini fullback Jim Grabowski could care less.

While Giese was trying to do something right here yesterday, Grabowski made it look easy as the Illini pulled a 21-0 upset victory out of the "trick-or-treat" bag.

"Grabowski" set an unofficial all-time career mark for rushing held by a Big Ten player. The old mark was set by Paul Giel of Minnesota in 1951-52 and 53 of 1,188 yards.

The senior from Taft Vocational High in Chicago posted a 2,275 mark, and according to Illinois publicity releases, "Grabowski now has the greatest career rushing yardage for any Big Ten player ever in a three-year career."

Giese was also listed in the handouts (on the last page) under "additional records today," but it made little difference to the befuddled and bewildered senior from Evansville.

He wouldn't have been surprised if a black cat had crossed his path on the gridiron.

Peoria Ball Hawk
The final blow of the afternoon's disaster for Purdue, Giese, came when Illinois Bo Batchelder of Peoria blocked the ball from Giese's hands and raced 55 yards to the Boilermaker 25.

It was Giese who finally hauled Batchelder down from behind.

On the next play, Illini quarterback Fred Cistardo fired a 25-yard shot to sophomore end John Wright for a 19-0 Illini edge.

Custardo then hit Bloomington soph Ron Bess in the end zone for the two-point play and a 21-0 Illinois victory.

Purdue, trying to go with their passing game, that has given Giese the title of the nation's second top passer, was at the mercy of the Illinois defense the entire afternoon.

Batchelder recovered two Purdue fumbles and intercepted two passes, while his defensive teammates kept Giese on the run, which was mostly backward.

The lone Boilermaker penetration came early in the fourth period on a 51-yard screen pass to fullback John Kuzniawski that carried to the Illini 10.

On the next play the Purdue fullback moved to the eight yard stripe, and a play later Giese discovered a thief in the crowd.

Minus 14 Yards
Illinois, making a farce of the Purdue offense, presented the Boilermakers a net loss of 14 yards rushing.

Meanwhile, back on offense, Illinois amassed 188 on the ground and 158 through the air, breaking the 16 NCAA reception mark he set in the Memphis State game earlier this season.

On their second try with the ball in the 63 degree temperature, Illinois took off on their own 29 and marched 71 yards in 11 plays for the opening score with 14:03 elapsed in the game. Grabowski, used eight times in the drive, chalked up a sizeable piece of running yardage with a 14-yard burst to the Purdue 27.

Custardo found Wright loose at the 13 and a first down.

'Grabo' There
It was "Grabo" again. This time the fullback went from his own nine, on a pitch-out, to the Illini 44 before being tackled. Custardo and Grabowski alternated to their own 48.

Custardo found Wright open beyond the midfield stripe, and the Champaign hurdler raced to the three-yard line before being nabbed.

With 15 seconds remaining, Custardo hit Bess on the second try for the score. Custardo's kick struck the goal post and bounced back. Illinois 21, Purdue 0.

Batchelder thwarted a Purdue drive at the Illini 37 when he pounced on a Minniear fumble. After an Illini punt, Purdue took over on their own 20.

"Once A Thief"
On a third and four situation, Batchelder picked off Giese's attempted pass, returning it to the Purdue 11.

After four unsuccessful shots at the goal, Custardo attempted a 25-yard field goal that was wide.

In the fourth quarter, with the Boilermakers at the Illini 15, it was Batchelder again with the hands as he pilfered a Chip Holcomb pass at the 13.

Purdue was shaken early in the second quarter, when top receiver Bob Hadrick was injured and unable to play out the contest.

Records for the day were: Hardrick — Purdue University season record for pass receptions, 47 (old record 43, set by Bernie Flowers, 1952); Bob Giese — Purdue University record for season total plays, 263 (old record, 248, Ron DiGravio, 1963); season total offense, 1414 (old record, 1384, Len Dawson, 1954); season pass completions, 122 (old record 119, 1952).

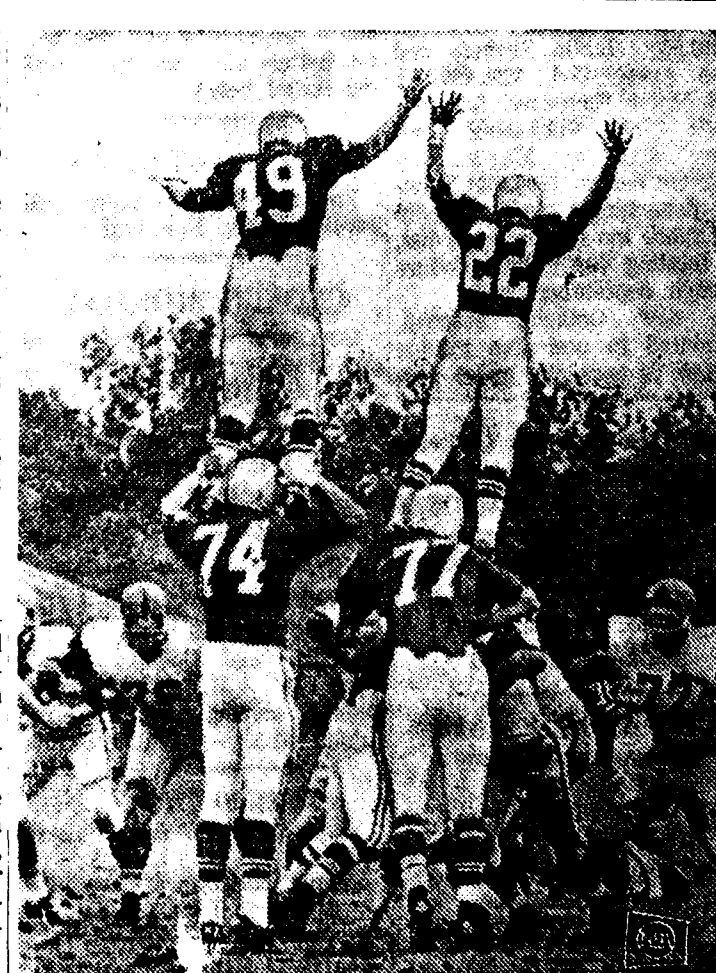

Grabowski's 163 yards yesterday, also enabled the rugged fullback to top Illinois total offense career record of 2,424 by Tommy O'Connell.

Custardo, who produced a net of 133 yards rushing and passing against Purdue, also surpassed O'Connell's record by reaching 2,480.

Stavroff Guides Indiana To 21-17 Edge Over Iowa

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Frank Stavroff guided Indiana to a 21-17 victory over Iowa Saturday after the Hawkeyes' Dick Gibbs had rocked the Hoosiers with two early haymakers.

The victory was Indiana's first in Big Ten football competition this season. Winless Iowa was driven deeper into the conference cellar.

Interceptions of Gary Snook passes by Ken Hellister and Trent Walters set up two Indiana touchdowns, and a punt by Jon Eickstead that bounced out of bounds on the Iowa one-yard gave the Hoosiers another scoring chance.

Stavroff took over after starting quarterback Gary Tefl suffered a shoulder separation late in the first period. He completed eight of 14 passes for 140 yards, including touchdown tosses of 7 to Terry Cole and 43 to Ray Terry, and scored on a sneak.

Gibbs intercepted a Tefl pass on the fourth play of the game and ran 85 yards for a touchdown. Two plays after the next, kickoff he recovered a fumble on the Indiana 29-yard line to open the way for the 25-yard field goal by Bob Anderson.

Snook completed 17 of 33 passes for 187 yards, but the Indiana defense knocked down his bombs when he needed them desperately in the closing minutes.

Iowa's third score was on a 69-yard touchdown drive. Dalton Sibley went the last three yards.

Joplin Learning Urban Renewal No Magic Wand

Ranks Third In Missouri For Projects

Editor's Note: This is the last in the series of articles examining an urban renewal program presently underway in Joplin, Missouri.

By ART HARRIS
JOPLIN, Mo. —

What has urban renewal accomplished in Joplin during its seven years of activity here?

One downtown project area has been cleared for redevelopment, and a residential section is ready for private investors.

Two more programs are in progress, entitling Joplin to rank third in the state in urban renewal projects.

Joplinites say they feel the "old town is on the move again."

Urban renewal has forced residential and commercial property owners to become aware of city planning, which should have kept pace through the years, but lacked ignition.

Through able management, Joplin's land clearance authority has cleared blighted areas for potential business and residential construction as soon as possible.

It has also kept the public here well-informed on its activities.

Joplin has now been given the opportunity, through federal financing, to regroup its private financing, to regroup its private and public resources in an attempt to improve housing and commercial facilities.

No Magic Wand Around Businessmen warn that all this is not accomplished in one giant wave of the magic wand from Washington.

"If your city decides on a program, Jacksonville should not expect to see any startling results until at least two years after old buildings are removed," a local businessman commented.

Proponents of urban renewal maintain that private investors should be ready to move into redeveloped areas as soon as an area is cleared.

However, as Joplin has waited for urban renewal land to be developed, they have been improving parts of their city without federal aid.

"We're not fools when it comes to bond issues," one resident remarked.

Bond issues voted and passed within the past three years have included: $900,000 for the expansion of the public school system; $1,450,000 industrial bond issue for an American Fixtures Plant (passed 6.141 to 60); $1,300,000 for the new Joplin municipal building; $2,500,000 for new Missouri Southern College; $550,000 industrial bond issue for Autotronics and $1,000,000 for public school building.

The success of bond issues has been attributed to the fact that almost all previous bonds have been retired, and there has been no appreciable tax increase in the past 15 years.

Construction Not Lacking Construction, and remodeling during the past year have included: Elms shopping center, $1,500,000, including a $53,000 expansion for Katz drug store; Southwestern Bell Telephone Company building extension $1,000,000; Joplin Savings and Loan Association, $250,000; R & S Motor Company, $200,000; Joplin Globe Publishing Company, $150,000; May's City shopping center, $500,000; Ramsey department store, $100,000 and more to numerous to list, all totaling $23 million dollars through September, 1965.

A new Catholic hospital, estimated to cost five million dollars, is presently under construction.

Residents of Joplin contributed $500,000 toward the project in public gifts.

During the past week, Joplin received approval from Jefferson City that it had been selected as the site for a $400,000 state school for the mentally retarded.

Groundbreaking also took place for the new city hall.

Civic Center Next In the future is a bond issue for $2.5 million, 7,000 seat civic center. Joplin has already received confirmation they will receive a $100,000 loan from the Communities Facilities Administration to finance a project study.

If the bond issue fails, Joplin is not obligated to repay the loan.

Voters will also have to decide on a bond issue for $65,000 as the city's portion toward a municipal health building. The remaining half is available from a federally-controlled Hill-Burton grant-in-aid.

Private enterprise has taken hold in the downtown, and is also spreading to residential areas.

Property owners in the west half of the 500 block of Main street have formed project "500 West."

The rear of buildings, once hidden by other buildings across an alley, have now been exposed because of a new municipal parking lot.

Property owners in the block have unveiled plans of remodeling to change the face of the area, hoping also to bring in potential customers from the parking lot.

One building in the 500 block east of Main street has already taken on a "new face" fronting an alley. Pearl Brothers, previously located on Main street, moved to a new building, and remodeled the structure, which also faces a new municipal parking lot.

Heads-Up Chamber Joplin is also fortunate to have an aggressive, and active Chamber of Commerce, headed by Robert Yeates, executive director.

"Pace '73," begun in 1962-63, outlines 12 goals which are hoped to be completed in 1973 when the city holds its centennial.

(Yeates is married to the former Bronna Crabtree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crabtree of Jacksonville.)

A real estate man, who has been in business 22 years here, said that trying to interest anyone in downtown property two years ago was almost impossible.

"Now, it's a different situation," noted Ray Ferguson.

"Although the property and rent values have not increased appreciably, the area has become more attractive to investors."

(Joplin's tax base is 6.12 on each $100 assessed valuation, as compared to Jacksonville's 3.50 cents on the hundred.)

Ferguson, who owns the building housing the offices of the urban renewal agency and a second commercial property downtown, is spending between $10,000 and $12,000 on one of his buildings.

In residential sections of the city, homeowners can be spotted making repairs to their houses. Not included in urban renewal.

Because Joplin voted for urban renewal by referendum, they have accepted it, and now anticipate taxable properties and a progressive city that will be better able to cope with the future years.

Construction Not Lacking Construction, and remodeling during the past year have included: Elms shopping center, $1,500,000, including a $53,000 expansion for Katz drug store; Southwestern Bell Telephone Company building extension $1,000,000; Joplin Savings and Loan Association, $250,000; R & S Motor Company, $200,000; Joplin Globe Publishing Company, $150,000; May's City shopping center, $500,000; Ramsey department store, $100,000 and more to numerous to list, all totaling $23 million dollars through September, 1965.

A new Catholic hospital, estimated to cost five million dollars, is presently under construction.

Residents of Joplin contributed $500,000 toward the project in public gifts.

During the past week, Joplin received approval from Jefferson City that it had been selected as the site for a $400,000 state school for the mentally retarded.

Groundbreaking also took place for the new city hall.

Civic Center Next In the future is a bond issue for $2.5 million, 7,000 seat civic center. Joplin has already received confirmation they will receive a $100,000 loan from the Communities Facilities Administration to finance a project study.

If the bond issue fails, Joplin is not obligated to repay the loan.

Voters will also have to decide on a bond issue for $65,000 as the city's portion toward a municipal health building. The remaining half is available from a federally-controlled Hill-Burton grant-in-aid.

Private enterprise has taken hold in the downtown, and is also spreading to residential areas.

Property owners in the west half of the 500 block of Main street have formed project "500 West."

The rear of buildings, once hidden by other buildings across an alley, have now been exposed because of a new municipal parking lot.

Property owners in the block have unveiled plans of remodeling to change the face of the area, hoping also to bring in potential customers from the parking lot.

One building in the 500 block east of Main street has already taken on a "new face" fronting an alley. Pearl Brothers, previously located on Main street, moved to a new building, and remodeled the structure, which also faces a new municipal parking lot.

Heads-Up Chamber Joplin is also fortunate to have an aggressive, and active Chamber of Commerce, headed by Robert Yeates, executive director.

"Pace '73," begun in 1962-63, outlines 12 goals which are hoped to be completed in 1973 when the city holds its centennial.

(Yeates is married to the former Bronna Crabtree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crabtree of Jacksonville.)

A real estate man, who has been in business 22 years here, said that trying to interest anyone in downtown property two years ago was almost impossible.

"Now, it's a different situation," noted Ray Ferguson.

Former Concord Man In Charge Of "Longshot"

AMCHITKA ISLAND, Alaska (AP) — Worldwide seismic coverage was reported Saturday for project long shot, the 80-kilometer thermonuclear explosion set off Friday in a 2,300-foot hole on this Aleutian island.

A Defense Department spokesman at Anchorage, Alaska, said "excellent signal levels" had been reported from recording stations.

Deputy Test Manager of "Operation Longshot" was Lt. Colonel Benjamin Grote, USAF, a native of Griggsville, and former resident of Concord.

Lt. Col. Grote is married to the former Esther Nickel of Concord, and they now reside at Sandia air force base in New Mexico.

Col. Grote served in the Korean conflict and later as advisor to the Korean minister of education. After returning to this country, he received his Ph.D. in geology from the University of Illinois.

He said the data is of high quality for later analysis, by which scientists may learn better how to distinguish underground nuclear blasts from natural earthquake shocks. The complete analysis may take weeks, or months.

Project directors called the test explosion, "near perfect." On the surface it left only a few earth cracks. There was no apparent loss of wildlife.

Tulip Beds For Greene

ROODHOUSE — The Roodhouse-White Hall Woman's Club is going to pretty up the place with the help of the flower lovers around the area. The club which has 67 members, mostly in Roodhouse, is selling tulip bulbs to make the city park in Roodhouse more attractive.

Mrs. W. O. Harp, president, says the idea was tried once before but the flower bulbs were not available. It just happened that she called a wholesale house in Springfield and found Tom Van DerVlugt, a member of grower and export firm from Holland, on the premises. Tom agreed to deliver the bulbs the club sought.

He suggested several kinds that would grow best in this area. They are now available at Barnett's Hardware store in Roodhouse. The girl scouts in the White Hall-Roodhouse district are going to start selling the future beautiful flowers door-to-door. Mrs. Verna B. Taylor of Roodhouse will be downtown with a flower cart loaned to the club by Hopkins Jewelers.

Mrs. Barnett says four types have already sold out but that there are still 4,100 tulip bulbs and 2,000 crocus on hand. Varieties are the bright red Paul Richter, yellow golden age which is an excellent type for bedding, the gold and red Bento, Oxford hybrids with flushed purple, red and yellow base, Orange triumphs, and the yellow crocus.

Tom recommends the bulbs be planted in clumps to be the most attractive. He also says they should be planted after the first of November and to keep the pesky squirrels from storing the bulbs in trees, plant them fifteen to eighteen inches deep.

Mrs. Harp says the proceeds from the sale will be used to plant flowers in the park and if all goes well the club will do the same thing next year.

Milton Schroeder And Urbana Girl United

Prof. and Mrs. Richard Murphy of Urbana are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Mary Barbara, and Milton R. Schroeder on Oct. 16 in Washington, D.C.

He is the son of Mrs. Wayne Taylor, 428 Southville Drive, in Jacksonville and the late Rev. Milton Schroeder.

The Rev. Henry R. Schroeder, St. Paul, Minn., grandfather of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony in the chapel of National Memorial Baptist Church before members of the immediate families. A small reception followed at the National Lawyers Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor traveled to Washington to attend the wedding. Accompanying them was the sister of the bridegroom, Miss Janet Schroeder, who is a graduate student at the University of Illinois in Urbana.

The bridegroom was graduated from Jacksonville High School and Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. He received his degree in June from the University of Chicago Law School where he was Editor-in-Chief of the Law Review. He is now serving as law clerk to the Honorable Carl McGowan of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

The new Mrs. Schroeder was graduated from Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa. and the University of Chicago Law School. She is employed as an attorney with the Department of Justice.

The couple will live in Washington, D.C.

Jury System Attacked

The acquittal of Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr. on charges of slaying Mrs. Viola Liuzzo in Alabama has to some extent shaken many Americans' faith in the jury system. This is not surprising, for two separate juries have failed to convict Wilkins after hearing expert ballistics testimony and an eye witness account of the crime. That, coupled with the recent acquittal of a man charged with manslaughter in the fatal shooting of a seminary student who also was a civil rights worker understandably brings doubt as to the effectiveness of trial by jury.

The jury system, however, was not at fault. For all its imperfections, trial by 12 good men and true has on the whole worked rather well for a long time.

What was at fault in the cases cited, and in others of the kind, was the process of jury selection whereby one group of citizens has been systematically excluded from service. Such exclusion makes a mockery of the concept that a man shall be tried by a jury of his peers.

There is a danger that these extreme instances of how prejudice can mar justice will lead to general attacks on the jury system. That would be unfortunate. It is not the system, but how it is operated in some places, that needs reform.

The Axe-Grinders

One of democracy's problems is the danger that small but loud minorities may be able to wield influence out of all proportion to their size. It is a danger to which public officials, especially legislators, must always be alert.

This is all the more true because the free expression of views is the very keystone of the democratic arch. It is vital that such expression not be curbed in any way. Officials must cherish and defend the practice, yet strive not to give a vocal minority's views—as expressed in an organized letter-writing campaign, for example—more weight than they merit.

Businesses also are subject to pressure of this kind. Corporations that support discussion of controversial ideas on television are sure to get a barrage of hostile mail. Corporate officials must learn to assess such mail on its merits.

Happily, there is reason to think that axe-grinding by special interest groups is not always effective. Public officials, in particular members of Congress, have generally learned to discount the significance of concerted letter-writing. Businessmen also seem to be growing more sophisticated in this respect, though many are still over-sensitive about being connected with anything controversial.

Xerox Corporation's sponsorship of television specials on the United Nations is a good case in point. Analysis of some 61,000 anti-U.N. letters (touched off by the John Birch Society) showed them to have been sent by only about 16,000 persons, not many more than wrote independently in favor of the programs. And a later poll showed favorable comment on the shows exceeding censure by more than ten to one. The conclusion, as is often the case when Congress gets a flood of mail, is that vocal, disciplined groups rarely provide a fair measure of what the public thinks.

Dear Ann:

Plug "Manners For Teen-age Boys"

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: You've written some mighty good advice for teen-agers in the past and now I hope you will do one more thing. Please write a booklet on manners for teen-age boys.

This may sound like a silly request but honestly, Ann, boys need help with manners just as much as girls — maybe even more. My best friend and I decided to teach our boy friends a few of the every-day courtesies and it has made all the difference in the world. Now they open the car doors for us, help us with our coats and stand up when an adult comes into the room.

I am sure the reason some teen-age boys appear to be rude is because they just don't know any better. How about that booklet, Ann? — LOVE 'EM ANYWAY

Dear Love: I'll file your suggestion under "One of These Days." At the moment I'm swamped, Sugar. A low how to you two girls for teaching your boy friends the A.B.C.'s of every-day manners.

I hope other girls who read this will follow your example. A girl who is interested enough in a boy to do this for him pays him a high compliment — and she does him an enormous favor.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law gave us a painting for our anniversary. I know good and well that piece of junk has been in her basement for six years. It's a monstrosity that looks like a vacuum sweeper having its tonsils removed.

When I opened the carton our 4-year-old became frightened and began to cry.

I don't want to hang the ugly thing in our home. My husband says his mother will be terribly hurt if we don't hang it and he does not want to risk offending her.

I think it was a dirty trick to saddle us with a picture she didn't want to hang in her own home. It was also cheap of her to send us something she had sitting around. What is your opinion? —LOVER OF ART, NOT GARBAGE

Dear Love: Thank your mother-in-law for the gift and tell her you will hang it when you and your husband agree on a "suitable place."

If you cannot agree on a "suitable place" you will, of course, NEVER hang it.

Dear Ann Landers: Please help me figure something out. I am mystified. My brother married later in life than most men. The woman is a widow about 38 years old and she is a delightful, gracious person. But, Ann, she gets absolutely stoned on one drink. Is this possible? Nobody can figure it out.

When she arrived at our home Sunday for dinner she was charming itself—lovely, bright-eyed and bubbling over with witty conversation.

Then she had a cocktail—just one — and within ten minutes she was drunk as a skunk. When dinner was announced she walked straight into the clothes closet.

A similar thing happened at my sister's house last week. We cannot figure out how a person can get loaded on one cocktail.

What do you make of it? — INQUIRING SISTERS

Dear Sisters: Often the person who gets plastered "all of a sudden" has had a head start somewhere else. However, some people cannot tolerate even one drink without falling on their faces — and your brother's wife may well be one of these.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LBJ Clears (?) Mystery

For Out-of-the-Blue Guest

By WASHINGTON STAFF
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Johnson's periodic stag dinners at the White House usually include a guest or two invited out of the blue. Naturally, most of these invitees show up.

It is the custom at these affairs for the guests to draw slips of paper which read either "speaker" or "writer." If he draws the former, the guest gives a short speech on anything he chooses. If the latter, he writes down a question or a statement for the President's eyes.

Recently, a surprised businessman from the Cleveland area attended one of the dinners. Drawing a "speaker" slip he rose in his turn to announce his name, his home town, his age (61), and the fact he is a businessman. But he quickly added he was not a distinguished businessman, nor a distinguished anything else.

"As a matter of fact," he went on, "I haven't the faintest idea why I was invited to this dinner."

When the festivities ended, he could see President Johnson pushing toward him, as if bent on clearing up the mystery. But he was no help. He reached out, shook hands with the bewildered Ohioan, and said with a smile: "I didn't know you were 61."

When NEA cartoonist Jim Berry (Berry's World) spent a few days at the President's Texas ranch, a presidential aide loaded him up with a handful of book matches with "The President's House" printed in gold on a white background.

At that point, Berry had not yet seen the President himself. The aide suddenly was seized with second thoughts. To Berry he said:

"When you go in there, if he hands you another big batch of these matches, DON'T say you have already got some!"

Not long ago, former Vice President Richard Nixon was campaigning in Virginia for the GOP governorship candidate, Linwood Holton of Roanoke. They took a little side trip into a veritable wonderland of place names.

In small planes, the Nixon-Holton party dropped down on a little mountaintop airport in southwestern Virginia. The place: Lonesome Pine airport. Not far away: Holton's birthplace, Big Stone Gap. That's close to Wildcat Valley. And, oh yes, the airport is located in Roundtop Precinct.

Rep. Richard Poff, one of Virginia's two Republican congressmen, has a long-time reputation as a fighter. He sounds like it on the speaking platform. Introducing him at a party rally, a GOP leader took note:

"We know that Dick Poff had an outstanding war record. Perhaps it is enough to say that his side won."

The Mature Parent

Freud's Teachings Twisted

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Helen Gurley Brown, woman's magazine editor and author of "Sex and the Single Girl," makes public her opinion that more girls seek sex experience than used to and asserts, "Psychiatry has liberated some of them."

Is the lady suggesting that psychiatrists encourage casual sex? If so, let me contradict her with this quote from Dr. Viktor I. Frankl, the noted Austrian psychiatrist and psychoanalyst:

"The doctor must veto sexual intercourse without real love whenever he can. The harmfulness of sexual restraint has been too long preached to youth. Sexuality should be allowed to mature tranquilly toward a meaningfulness in the crown of the love relationship."

I produce this quote because Mrs. Brown's statement reflects the popular notion that psychologists do indeed "liberate" our sexual impulses into irresponsible activity.

It's a notion that has done untold damage. Responsible for it are the early, eager-beaver interpreters of Freud's view that "repression" of our sexual impulses makes us neurotic as "expression" of them makes us healthy.

Their disastrous mistake was the failure to make clear what the great discoverer of the unconscious meant by "expression." He didn't have expression in mind. What he had in mind was the expression, the release, the lift-up of our sexual impulses from the unconscious underground where we were forced to bury them in childhood.

Freud wanted us to become aware of them and move into such a grateful acceptance of our sexual impulses that we lose our need to act upon them inappropriately.

The early, clumsy interpreters of Dr. Freud's theory that we become healthy as our unconscious feelings become conscious have a big mess to answer for with their suggestion that we have to act on every sexual feeling we experience.

The purpose of psychological treatment is not socially irresponsible behavior.

Its purpose is the recovery of the patient's self-respect — a respect for all his feelings, including his sexual ones.

Public statements like Mrs. Brown's are irresponsible. They serve only to entrench the popular notion that our psychological health depends upon the release of all our sexual whims into sexual action. The world is hard enough on young people without such misinformation abuse of psychiatric authority. The authority regards promiscuous sex activity as dubious as it regards total abstinence from

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie TV-Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tom Smothers tells his friends inquired about his new television show last summer.

"Sounds great, Tom," they'd say. "What shows are you opposite?"

Tom replied that he and his brother faced "Mister Roberts" and "Peyton Place III." The friend's face would invariably fall and he'd offer the weak comment, "Well, I don't watch 'Peyton Place' any more."

Indeed the talk in the trade was that "The Smothers Brothers Show" was the least likely to succeed. A change of production heads, script problems galore, the untold quality of the Smothers as situations comedians — all spelled doom. Too bad, boys, but you can always go back to the night clubs.

"The show was almost canceled before we went on the air," said Dick — he's the straight man and bass player. "Tommy and I didn't like the way things were going, and we said so. They kept saying, 'Trust us, we know what we're doing.'"

"But they didn't," added Tom, the rubber-faced guitar-playing brother. "At one meeting an executive told us, 'Maybe you two shouldn't be on television.'"

"I was proud that Dick and I responded in unison, without consulting each other. We said: 'Maybe you're right. We'll go back to night clubs, where we can make a lot more money without all this grief.' We were almost to the door when our manager said, 'Wait a minute, fellows, let's talk this over.'"

The Smothers Bros. stuck to their guns, fighting for better scripts and characterization. The reviews of the first show were generally poor, and rightfully so, the boys feel.

But the viewing public, which has an instinct for such things, sensed a winning combination and embraced the show from the beginning. One rating listed "Smothers Brothers" with the highest audience of any new show. This despite the fact that CBS affiliates were so wary of the show that many substituted local programs.

A fjord is a long narrow arm of the sea extending inland, resulting from the inundation by the sea of a severely glaciated valley. Many fjords are astonishingly deep. Sogne Fjord in Norway is 4,078 feet deep. Messier Channel in Chile is 4,167 feet deep. Fjords are characteristically U-shaped valleys, with the lower, slanting part of the U underwater. Walls of fjords often rise vertically for hundreds of feet from the water's edge.

Dramatic Moments

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Taking of a fall bird census can be both frustrating and dramatic. Heavy rains may fill the marshes and mudflats which had promised us several kinds of shore birds and a good list for the area. Both the Jacksonville list of fall birds and the Springfield list were shortened by these weather conditions.

Of course the many kinds of fall warblers are so confusing that they are difficult to identify. And the birds usually don't announce their presence by song in the fall: the insects take over the singing then.

Excitement Comes Soon But the fall census can be dramatic, as the Springfield one proved to be on September 12. We who helped in Carpenter Park during the morning did not wait long for excitement. As we were driving to the parking area, we found ourselves in the midst of a flock of warblers. From a ring side seat we began to build up a good list of birds.

It wasn't long until we identified a least a dozen species of warblers and, of course, many common birds. Red-headed Woodpeckers were fussing at one another. Blackbirds were chattering. This whole picture was drama number 1.

Since, on a census, we try to cover as much territory as possible, we parked our car and began our hike along the river-road trail. One of the party said, "We might see a Black-throated Blue Warbler," with a wishful-thinking attitude; for this bird isn't found too easily.

Soon this thinking was no longer wishful: a beautiful Black-throated Blue Warbler appeared conveniently in full view at the feet of one of the birders, and then, like warblers, flitted beyond our view. This was drama number 11, and we ceased to wishfully wish of another stirring event.

Silent Motions Within a few minutes one of the birders mysteriously and silently motioned for help — and wisely too. There before the two gazers sat a beautiful warbler in full view in a low shrub. It was persistently wagging its tail.

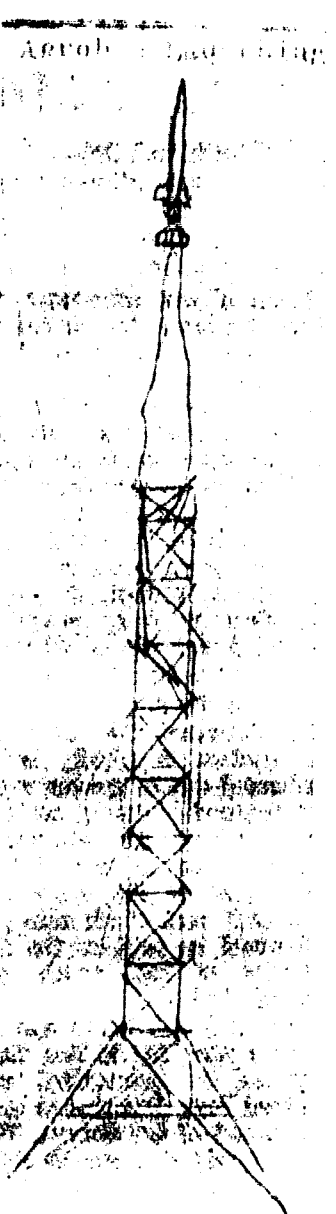

Judging by its action and its general appearance, we knew that it had to be a Prairie Warbler or — we hardly dared whisper it — a Kirtland's. We began to consider the two: it was larger than the Prairie should be; its back was a darker gray with some stripes on it than we associate with the Prairie; the dark marks on the yellow sides seemed more prominent than those would on the fall Prairie; and we couldn't find the Prairie distinguishing neck spot.

Here undoubtedly was the accidental Kirtland's Warbler, the bird that is associated with a limited jack-pine area in the north-central part of the lower peninsula of Michigan, the only place in the world where it nests. This was truly drama number III.

Aerospace News

METOR-CATCHING AEROBEES

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

While the big space rockets are grabbing the headlines the Aerobee high altitude rockets are quietly going about their work of gathering information on the upper air. Often this information aids in the design of the spacecraft to be carried by the other larger rockets.

For example, this summer five Aerobee 150s were used in a six nation micrometeorite investigation. For these experiments the Aerobees were equipped with a special nose cone, called Venus Flytraps, because they opened to trap meteoroids the way that jungle flower traps flies.

Roar Into Space As each Aerobee rocket roared out of its launching tower at Churchill Research Ranch, in Canada the Venus Flytrap was sheathed in its nose cone like the bud of a flower. This prevented it from collecting earthy dust at lower altitudes. When the rocket climbed to an altitude of 45 miles, where the first meteoroids might be found, the nose cone opened like a blossoming flower. As the rocket coasted on up to 100 miles above earth one after another of the collecting trays were exposed to trap meteoroids. In this way scientists could tell the altitude at which various amount and types of meteoroids were collected.

Folds Back Up As the rocket dropped back past 65 miles altitude the meteoroid collector folded back into the nose like a flower folding up for the night. As with all sounding rocket experiments the most tedious, and yet most important part, of the program began when the nose cone was recovered. This was the long process of checking over the particles collected during the rockets' brief flight.

This checking was made doubly difficult because of the extremely small size of the meteoroids collected. Most of them were little more than one tenth of a micron (four millionth of an inch wide).

Three Methods Different techniques were used for measuring each of the three surfaces used in the collecting trays. These three surfaces were: Aluminum coated lucite, lucite, and polished aluminum. They were picked to simplify the analysis of the particles with particular methods of study.

The aluminum coated lucite surfaces were examined by electron microscopes to determine the size, number and distribution of the smaller particles. The lucite surfaces were viewed with optical microscopes revealing the size and distribution of meteoroids larger than two microns (.00015748 inch). The polished aluminum surfaces were probed with X-rays to determine the composition of the particles.

Sergeant Mead had planned the department to my very door, eh Sergeant Mead?" The burly policeman squirmed uneasily in his chair. "But there was no destruction of property, and nobody got hurt, Sir," he pointed out. "And the kids didn't tamper with the lights either. I checked with the department downstairs and there really was a power failure in that area."

Clever Trick The mayor's eyes lit up with humor and his tone was softer when he said, "But in addition to the wrath of my neighbors I had a real shock when I stumbled over that dummy the young rascals rigged up and planted on my front porch. 'Oh it was a clever piece of work all right, with just a touch of pokeberry juice to make the thing look real... and that wicked looking dagger fashioned from tinfoil was a masterpiece.'"

The sergeant got up to leave. "Then you're not bringing charges against the kids, Sir?" he asked anxiously. "By all means I should, Sergeant," the mayor snapped. "But instead I'm ordering you to herd that gang of young ruffians out to the grove back of the old warehouse tonight for a wiener roast on me," he added with a grin.

ASK ME

Q. Why are astronauts weightless in space? Are they beyond earth's gravity?

A. This is a frequently heard explanation but though gravity does grow weaker with distance we are never beyond the pull of some planet's gravity. Astronauts are weightless because they and their craft's forward speed exactly balance the pull of gravity.

Q. Is there any possibility of life on the moon?

A. Although life on the moon seems unlikely astronomers have seen dark lines extending from the central mountains of a few craters. These lines appear as the moon's day begins and grow longer during the time in which the moon has sunlight.

Q. Is it true that a plane is being developed that can fly both in the air and under water?

A. Yes, the Sub-Plane is being developed. It will look much like an ordinary winged plane, but will be able to dive completely under the surface of the water.

Enthusiastic committees are busy this week preparing for the Passavant Memorial Area Hospital Aid Society's annual pre-holiday Bazaar and Deacons Tea. The gala affair will be held Friday, Nov. 5th, in the Lounge at the Nurses Residence adjacent to the hospital. Hours are from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 3 to 4:30 p.m. The afternoon closing is courtesy for World Community Day services being held at the First Baptist church.

The Country Kitchen is always an attraction for the bazaar fancier. Members of this committee are pictured at the top of this page. At top left are, l-r, Mrs. Fred Gray, Mrs. Clarence Brewster, Mrs. J.R. Davidsmeyer and Mrs. William Gross. At the right are Mrs. Martin Newman, left, and Mrs. Joe Grojean, the latter being chairman of the committee. Mrs. Robert Spink is also a member of this group.

A number of valuable items will be presented the day of the Bazaar. Donations are being received toward these projects from Aid members; at Walton's, The Emporium and also at the bazaar on Friday. Seen in the picture center left is Mrs. Earl Floreth holding a lovely blue bulky cardigan sweater made and donated by Mrs. Harry Killam. At right is Mrs. Kohl Perbix, co-chairman for the benefit this year, holding a dressed doll, donated by Mrs. Merton Abbott. Not pictured, but also among the gifts for the bazaar this year is another doll with a complete wardrobe.

The attractive GE color television set seen is also included in the fine assortment of articles which includes the autumn haze mink boa on top of the television set. Mrs. Earl Floreth and Mrs. Roy Warner are in charge of donations toward these presentations.

To many the holiday season means candles and with this in mind members of a special committee have spent many hours making handsome tapers to be sold at The Candle Shop.

Puzzle: Fewer Farms, More USDA Men

In a statement issued last week Congressman Leslie C. Arends, Republican, 17th Illinois district, took sharp issue with economy claims made by Secretary of Agriculture Freeman. The House minority whip said "Parkinson's Law that 'work expands so as to fill the time available for its completion' is now buttressed by Freeman's Law which sets forth this rule: 'The number of employees in the Department of Agriculture increases in direct ratio to the decline in farm population.'"

In his statement Arends asserted: "The precision of Freeman's Law is demonstrated by the fact that during the last five years the number of USDA employees has increased 30 percent, while the Nation's farm population has dropped by exactly the same percentage. Bureau of Census figures place farm population at 15,835 in 1960. By 1964, the total was down to 12,854,000. A projection of the trend would indicate there are about 12,500,000 farm people today.

economies. It was noted, were achieved through "intricate use of computers for payrolls."

There were some skeptics who questioned the billion dollar saving in view of Budget Bureau figures which showed total USDA expenditures skyrocketed from $5.9 billion in fiscal 1961 to a record $7.9 billion in fiscal 1964 — an increase of $2 billion.

Now, in accordance with Freeman's Law, the payroll computers at USDA are really running wild, Arends concluded.

75th Convention For Illinois Beekeepers

Hoyt Taylor of Pleasant Plains, secretary of the Illinois State Beekeepers' association, announces the 75th annual convention of the organization will be held Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 6-7, at the St. Nicholas hotel in Springfield.

Illinois and out-of-state specialists will appear on the crowded two-day program. Dr. Elbert Jaycox, U.I. professor of apiculture, will discuss "What Do We Know About Honey Bees and Soya Beans?" and Father Augustine Jones of Marmion Abbey, Aurora, will give a report on summer research work at the University of Wisconsin.

Charles "Chuck" Dandant of Hamilton will be the master of ceremonies at the banquet Saturday evening. At 10:30 a.m. Sunday Dr. Vern G. Milum, retired U. I. professor of apiculture, will speak on the subject "Some Early Illinois Beekeeping History."

UI Spray School Set: Jan. 26-27

The 18th annual Custom Spray Operators' Training School will be held January 26-27 in the Illini Room of the Illini Union on the University of Illinois campus here.

Custom spray operators, industry representatives, farm advisers and other interested persons will attend the two-day meeting. They'll hear research and extension specialists from the USDA, discussing states and Illinois discuss pesticides, spray equipment and insect, disease and weed control.

Chairman H. B. Petty, extension entomologist with the Cooperative Extension Service and the Illinois Natural History Survey, advises those who plan to attend the school to reserve rooms immediately at local and area motels and hotels. The school attracted an attendance of over 1,000 last year. From the rate of inquiries so far, Petty expects about 1,200 to attend this year's school.

JUNIOR HEREFORD AUCTION NOV. 8

4-H and FFA members throughout Illinois and surrounding states will have an opportunity Monday, Nov. 8, to purchase top-quality Hereford show steer prospects and registered Hereford heifers for their next year's projects.

The event is the 1st annual calf sale sponsored by the Illinois Junior Hereford association to be held at the DeWitt County 4-H Fairgrounds located one half mile north of Clinton, Ill. The sale is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. with Col. David Tomlin, Mason City, adult advisor of the junior group, and Col. Bill Beck, Stonington, former officer of the association, doing the selling.

Forty outstanding show steer prospects and 20 registered heifers, all born in the spring of 1965, will be sold.

BEEF FEEDERS HEAR FS NUTRITIONIST

Thomas A. King, director of nutrition and feed research for FS Services, Inc., Bloomington, addressed 103 Morgan county cattle feeders and veterinarians at the Blackhawk restaurant Thursday evening.

They were the guests of the Morgan County Service Co. King discussed in detail results of recent research in feeding beef cattle, from start to finish.

Paul Klegel, local sales manager, was the toastmaster of the evening and the door prize, a cattleman's vest — made of suede leather lined with fleece, went to Marvin Martin of Alexander.

AIRMAN BIGGS GETS PROMOTION

KADENA, Okinawa — James A. Biggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Biggs, of 641 S. Prairie St., Jacksonville, has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Biggs is a missile guidance mechanic at Kadena AB, Okinawa. He is a member of the Pacific Air Force which provides offensive-defensive airpower for the U.S. and its allies in the Pacific, Far East and Southeast Asia.

A graduate of Jacksonville High School, the airman attended DeVry Technical Institute, Chicago.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

Conservation means conserving, protecting, guarding, also it can mean care and supervision. I like this definition—Conservation means the wise use of the things God gave us. This means wise use of our soil, minerals, water, wildlife, timber, etc. To make wise use we must make provisions for replenishing, for maintaining our natural resources for future generations.

Water is a resource which is becoming of great importance. We must be sure we make the best use of it. We must use detergents that are biodegradable — they will break down after use and will not cause billows of suds in our streams.

We have become rather unconcerned about soil conservation recently. We had had some dry years and this season's rains caused much erosion because we had sort of forgotten about the need for contouring, grass waterways, etc. Our soil is rich and we can't afford to let it wash down the river.

Be careful when deciding what fields you will fall plow. Chop stalks, keep vegetative cover close to the ground over the winter on fields you don't plow. Remember the dirty snow of last winter caused by dust blowing off the fields?

Now You Should Check corn yields. Look at new cars. Check anti-freeze in all water cooled engines. Get the winter clothes out of moth balls.

Delouse hogs. Clean corn fields. Vote on Tuesday. Be sure you clear car and truck windows of frost before operating them these frosty mornings. Driving with a peep hole is dangerous—for you and others.

Hog prices have stayed up above $20 for quite a while. Consider carefully the number of sows and gilts to breed for Spring farrowing. A great increase in supply will cause a decrease in price per pound. Everything comes to him who hustles while he waits.

Greene, Morgan and Scott units.

The Sangamon County Heart Unit will host the "Volunteer Roundup" to be held at the Holiday Inn East from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Dr. Robert Harp, Sangamon county Heart Unit chairman will welcome volunteers to the half-day session which will feature workshops and discussions of leadership responsibility.

DOMESTIC

October, 1965

The working-men of Charleston held a meeting on October 16th. In their address they expressed their belief that the destruction of slavery will ultimately prove a great benefit to all the people of the State, and especially to the working-man, as it will tend to free him from the monopolies of capitalists and dignity labor.

Twenty-four states have ratified the Constitutional amendment abolishing slavery. The State of Illinois was the first to do so, on Feb. 1st, last. It has been rejected by three states: Delaware, Kentucky and New Jersey.

The late Edward Everett's residence, in Summer Street, Boston, and the furniture it contained, were sold at auction recently. The house and adjoining grounds brought fifty-seven thousand dollars.

We are glad to see that Colonel Jaquess, whose arrest in Kentucky on a most odious charge we stated a few weeks since, has been found not guilty and acquitted.

Cotton planters of Southern Illinois may now be seen at any time smiling all over their faces at the result of the season's operations. Enough has already matured to make the present crop better than that of last year.

At Gen. Grant's reception in Cincinnati, the other day, a tall, lank, sunburnt man pressed forward to take Gen. Grant by the hand, and said to him, with marked emotion as he did so, "When Lee surrendered to you I was in his army, but you are my general now."

Mrs. Caroline Marden, of Medford, Mass., while returning home from Boston, on Sunday last, had her pocket picked of a small sum of money. On reaching home, the lady discovered a $300 diamond ring in her pocket, which the rogue had doubtless accidentally dropped while accomplishing the theft.

A Texas letter writer says: "Any man in this State who does not own 400 head of cattle and 70 to 100 horses is worse than worthless. As far as the eye can reach in every direction, and as far as you can go, the country is alive with stock. Would it not pay handsomely to bring some of these Texas herds North?"

YESTER YEAR

The Winchester correspondent opined "If things run as they have been for the past few days, by the time circuit court convenes there will be a large criminal docket."

A promising commercial career was blighted in Alton, according to this Manchester item:

John Longford, who started selling maps for H. C. Tunison, the Jacksonville map man, was arrested in Alton for selling without license, and was fined. After paying his fine, he came home as soon as possible, and has retired from the business.

Manchester firms advertising in the Arrow were H. Leighton & Co., groceries, dry goods, boots and shoes; Caldwell & McConnell, lumber, plaster, lime, salt and hair; Husted & Greenwalt, general blacksmithing and manufacturers of wagons, buggies, plows and agricultural implements.

Farmers and Traders Bank, E. J. Clark, President, W. R. Richardson, Cashier; G. Wright, harness and collars, cash paid for hides and furs.

There was a gleeful item in the White Hall correspondence: The bald head renovator took in Jerseyville last week, and cooked a banker, a hotel keeper and an editor, a late candidate for congress. We sympathize with the poor benighted banker, and hotel man, but an editor who has been warning his readers against frauds, yet is swindled by so transparent a humbug, should emigrate to White Hall, and start another paper. It isn't probable that he would secure much patronage, but it is a noble place for exchanges.

At that time White Hall had three weekly newspapers, Republican, Democratic and Prohibitionist, and it is certainly a mystery how they managed to survive.

But the Republican editor managed to drain a little more humor out of the abundance of papers in the town:

A man fell on the ice a few days ago, and broke his arm. He did not take all the local papers, hence did not know that ice is slick.

W. W. Chapman, the Winchester real estate man, had some prime property for sale — The Park House hotel of 30 rooms at the southwest corner of the public square and the Winchester Flouring Mills, which included seven acres of land adjoining town, the stone mill house and stable. He also offered 640 acres of land; 300 in cultivation, 100 in wheat, three tenant houses and three miles of fence. Price $8 per acre; rent for $2 per acre, or on the halves.

Notes from other correspondents include:

From Barrow — The water famine has ceased in this vicinity. The greater part of the ditches are flowing with water, as well as the small creeks and branches.

Patterson — A benefit hop was given in the hall Monday night, in the interest of Mr. Altizer, the noted violinist of Pike county, whose house was recently destroyed by fire.

Rockbridge — John Clark goes smiling and bowing around to every person he meets. Says there are two — a boy and a girl — at his house and he is so happy.

Berdan — We received a blue mitten, about an inch and a half long, very nicely crocheted by some lady for a valentine, last Monday.

Greenfield — The Heiner storehouse on the north side of the square was sold last week to Jno. Piper for $1,800.

Carrollton — Wednesday evening, at 9 o'clock, the Rev. A. J. Sauer, united Mr. Jas. W. Rives and Miss Lillie Carlin, in the indissoluble knot. The young couple will remove to their farm, which is situated a short distance from Greenfield.

Roodhouse — Thursday night was distinguished by a very unusual storm of snow and sleet. The wires of the W. U. Telegraph were so coated with ice that they could not stand the strain and broke in several places. All trains were very considerably delayed.

Altogether the Arrow, Vol. III, No. 21, was a pretty newsy sheet. A copy was handed to the writer some time ago and is the only one he has seen.

The Illinois State Historical society does not have a copy, which is rather strange as the Arrow was continued until 1907.

If any reader has copies of the paper we'd like to hear from him, so we can get them microfilmed for deposit in the state library.

— HARPER'S WEEKLY

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:

ANTI-NEGRO suffrage meetings have been held this week at Arcadia, Concord and Bethel, which were attended by Capt. John W. Stokes, of Meredosia, and J. H. Lurton, John Trabue, S. M. Martin and others from this city. We learn that effective speeches were made, and the occasions were enlivened by vocal music by the Meredosia glee club.

A similar meeting is to come off this evening at Meredosia, which will be addressed by the eloquent Col. Geo. H. English, late of the 32d Ill. Inf. The soldiers are working to defeat the party that is urging negro citizenship.

Lurton, Trabue and Martin were Democratic candidates for county office and won by very large majorities in the November election.

The population of Schuyler county, Illinois, is 16,000 — an increase of 1,416 since 1880.

This was Schuyler's peak population. It soon leveled off around 12,000 and hung there for several decades, but in 1900 the census taker could find only 6,377 residents and the figure is probably closer to 6,000 now.

The 5th Illinois cavalry, lately stationed at San Antonio, has been mustered out of service. If our maker thought it wrong for Adam to live single when there was not a woman on earth, how criminally guilty are old bachelors, with the world full of pretty girls.

POCKETBOOK LOST — The undersigned lost, on Monday last, between Princeton and the residence of Francis Hoag, on Sandy Creek, seven miles south of Jacksonville, a pocket book containing an amount of money and papers. A reward of $20 will be paid for said pocket-book and contents if left at the residence of Mr. J. Nichols, in Jacksonville, J. NICHOLS.

FOREIGN

October, 1865

A report from France suggests that the importers of cholera into Egypt, and the chief diffusers through the East and thence westward to Europe, are the pilgrims returning from Mecca and Djeddah.

Dr. Chapman has been testing his theory of the application of heat or cold to the spine in some of the cases of cholera at Southampton with very successful results.

The Halifax papers report a negro insurrection in the eastern part of Jamaica.

Count Bismark, Prime Minister of Prussia, has been visiting Emperor Napoleon. Friendly relations between Prussia and France are considered to have been insured by this visit.

Travelers arriving from Nice, at Marseilles, France, are fumigated in a room set apart for the purpose, in order to disinfect them from the cholera.

October, 1865

A lawyer having found a purse, and returned it to the owner, one of the papers says it may be honest and honorable, but it is exceedingly unprofessional. The delinquent defends himself on the ground that there was nothing in it.

The young lady who lost her little pink bow from her jockey-cap, has found a big brown one under a beaver.

Wanted by a bachelor jeweler — a wife with a neck of pearl, ruby lips, brilliant eyes, golden hair, a silvery tongue, and a perfect jewel of a temper.

"Pa," said a lad to his father, "I often read of people poor but honest; why don't they say rich but honest?"

"Tut, tut, my son," said the father, "Nobody would believe them."

A young lady, from the rural districts of Hoosierdom, lately visited Chicago with her beau. Getting into a city railroad car for the first time, she took a seat, while her lover planted himself on the platform, beside the driver. Very soon the conductor began to collect fare, and approaching the rustic maiden, he said: "Your fare, miss."

There is always a great thrill when you bid and make a grand slam.

Such contracts are easy to bid when you look over both hands. At the table they are much harder to bid.

Today's hand is from the Men's Pairs at the Asbury Park Regional. There is no trouble in the play at seven diamonds. South must discard two hearts on dummy's king and queen of clubs and ruff two spades in dummy so that everyone who played the hand in diamonds made seven.

A few people played at six no-trump and one pair made that contract when the defense slipped a trifle. A spade was opened and at trick two South led the three of hearts. West played the five and the eight spot forced East's king. East led back a spade. South took his king, cashed the ace of clubs, entered dummy with a diamond, discarded a heart and a spade on the king and queen of clubs and ran off all his diamonds. The last diamond lead squeezed West who could not protect his two queens and this particular South made his contract.

Only a few pairs got to the grand slam. The bidding in

Heart Races Instantly When Danger Threatens

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Driving your car, you almost have a terrible accident.

And almost instantly, your heart speeds up.

Your heart of course couldn't "see" the threat. Neither could the glands inside you that squirted out adrenalin to make your heart start thumping.

Then how does such an astonishingly quick reaction come about?

The answer is fantastic. For at least eight separate events take place, in chain sequence, in perhaps three seconds or less.

The story is another example of the remarkable workings of the human body, plus new insights as to how vital hormones, such as adrenalin, really do their jobs. It's also an example of basic medical research digging ever deeper toward knowledge that might lead to new means of safeguarding human health.

As for those eight steps:

1. Your eyes spot danger, and register images in your brain.
2. Your brain flashes nerve signals to your adrenal glands, sitting atop your kidneys, as well as to your heart and various other organs.
3. The nerve impulses stimulate the adrenals to release some adrenalin—about 1,000 times as much as when you're resting—and stimulate the endings in the heart to release some noradrenalin, or a few body organs or tissues.
4. Now, from research at Vanderbilt University, it appears that hormones carry their "messages" only part way. Upon reaching their target organs, they turn over the job of delivering the message to a kind of errand boy inside cells of the organ. And this errand boy is cyclic amp.

This chemical can mimic or do the job of at least some hormones, the researchers find.

These new studies of hormone action were described to the American Chemical Society recently by a team of Vanderbilt researchers, including Dr. Earl W. Sutherland, who first discovered amp; and Drs. R. W. Butcher and G. Alan Robison.

Cyclic amp seems to mediate or control the action of a variety of hormones, they said.

There is always a great thrill when you bid and make a grand slam.

Such contracts are easy to bid when you look over both hands. At the table they are much harder to bid.

Today's hand is from the Men's Pairs at the Asbury Park Regional. There is no trouble in the play at seven diamonds. South must discard two hearts on dummy's king and queen of clubs and ruff two spades in dummy so that everyone who played the hand in diamonds made seven.

A few people played at six no-trump and one pair made that contract when the defense slipped a trifle. A spade was opened and at trick two South led the three of hearts. West played the five and the eight spot forced East's king. East led back a spade. South took his king, cashed the ace of clubs, entered dummy with a diamond, discarded a heart and a spade on the king and queen of clubs and ran off all his diamonds. The last diamond lead squeezed West who could not protect his two queens and this particular South made his contract.

Only a few pairs got to the grand slam. The bidding in

4. Adrenalin and noradrenalin are the hormones that mobilize energy to fight or run away.
5. The hormones reach the muscle cells of your heart.
6. But they don't act within these cells, and this is one new finding. Instead, they activate an enzyme, or chemical governor, which appears to be located in the cell membrane or wall.
7. This activated enzyme then brings about the release inside the cell of a special chemical, nicknamed cyclic amp.
8. Cyclic amp then activates one or more enzymes inside heart muscle cells.
9. And this enzyme — or enzymes — actually does the job of making your heart speed up and work harder — all because of what your eyes saw an instant ago.

Hormones are chemical messengers playing powerful roles in maintaining health and normal body functions. Different hormones are produced by the adrenals, the sex glands, the pituitary, and other glands. Each hormone affects only one or a few body organs or tissues.

Now, from research at Vanderbilt University, it appears

GRANNY GOWNS—The old complaint about too-short skirts may be in for a quick change of line as a new vogue for "granny" dresses gains headway among teen-agers. It's enough to turn heads even in blase Los Angeles, as these girls demonstrate. An almost total cover-up can be achieved by topping the ankle-length gowns with ruffled "Betsy Ross" dust caps.

'Check The Roast Please' Housewife-Chauffeurs Cook Under Car Hood

Boston Globe Food Editor BOSTON (AP) — Chalk one up for women drivers: "We're cooking under the hood of the car. With the youngsters in the back seat and the wheels rolling."

"Forget about the oil, just check the roast," one pioneer chef told her filling station attendant. Sure enough there it was, a foil-wrapped package riding on the exhaust manifold, hottest spot under the hood.

We tried it following the lead of Norma Bidwell, Canadian housewife whose been roasting-while-rolling all summer.

Mrs. Bidwell, food editor of the Hamilton Spectator, said: "My husband scoffed the first time I handed him a three-pound foil wrapped package of raw meat and said, 'We'll cook it under the hood.'"

"But 10 minutes after we arrived at the cottage the six of us were munching happily on hot roast beef sandwiches with tender-crisp onions and seasoned with cook-on sauce."

The rules for road cooking: Wrap a two-to-three pound roast, not over two inches thick (for a three-hour drive) in a large sheet of extra heavy duty foil, fold edges together twice to make a lock seam; Use a wire hanger to anchor the meat to the manifold.

Stop halfway to your destination to turn the roast.

Don't stop to visit with friends for your roast needs three hours driving time.

Don't try turkey.

"During the early stages of a turkey's cooking, it gets bouncy. It sticks its elbows out and pushes away from the heat. You try to push it back and it sticks a drumstick through the foil."

This means trouble — like grease burning on the manifold.

Landmark Topic Before Pittsfield City Council

PITTSFIELD — At a special meeting of the Pittsfield City Council Tuesday October 26 a report was read from Hugh S. Brogan, representing the Northern Securities Corporation of Chicago, concerning the buying and financing of the Old High-bee home on the corner of West Washington and South Memorial.

Mr. Brogan stated that an engineering report would have to be made and that further study should be made as to the feasibility of the preserving the property by the council. There is not sufficient time before the property is sold to study the bonding issue. The sale is advertised for Saturday October 30.

In other action, the council passed the first reading of an amendment to raise the salary of the gas department's superintendent to equal the salaries paid to Superintendents of the Street and Alley Department, and the Water Department, which is $5600.00 a year.

Mrs. Margaret Dixon of Oak Lawn who recently moved to Pittsfield has purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Luster located in the Lowry addition. The Lusters are moving to a larger house.

THE QUALIFYING BACKGROUND OF

HOWARD BECKER

DEMOCRAT CANDIDATE FOR

County Commissioner

WILL BE A GREAT ASSET TO MORGAN COUNTY'S FUTURE

HOWARD BECKER was born in the Literberry Community and was educated in Morgan County and is married to a Morgan County girl, the former Anna Mae Aufdenkamp.

THE HOWARD BECKERS have two children, both of them educated in the Morgan County Schools. The daughter, Carol Ann, graduated from the Jacksonville High School and is continuing studies at the University of Illinois — while her brother, Edward, is now in his second year at the Jacksonville High School.

HOWARD BECKER is now serving a second term as School Board Member of School District #117 and chairman of house, grounds and transportation committee, with a record of sound progressive accomplishments — a record of which the Becker Family and all of us may be justly proud.

THE BECKER FAMILY enjoys a wide acquaintance with friends and relatives on both sides of the family, in many sections of the County. Here their interests have always been many and varied.

HOWARD BECKER and THE BECKER FAMILY are firmly established in Morgan County, (Mr. Becker's father was County Commissioner) their roots go deep, and they have great faith in their Community's future.

FLY-UP AT K. C. HALL
On Wednesday October 20 an impressive fly-up and rededication service was held at the K.C. Hall conducted by Mrs. Kathleen O'Conner and Mrs. Winnie Neihaws, leaders of troop #84, Junior Girl Scouts of Our Saviour's School.

Brownie Girl Scouts flying-up were girls from troop #96; Mrs. Donna Flynn, leader, troop #114, Mrs. Greta Ducey, leader, troop #60, Mrs. Lillian Trudewind, leader.

The ceremony was opened as flags were presented. They were carried by Betty Knepler, Susan Hanley, and Vicki Farrester. The honor guards were Marcia Galassi and Carol Quintan.

Brownie leaders took girls flying up into the Brownie ring, which was composed of visiting Brownies of troop #96. The fly-ups were given their Brownie wings, and passed through an appropriately decorated arch and welcomed to Junior Scout troop #84. Girl Scout pins were presented and membership stars were awarded for a year's service in Brownies.

The Juniors then sat in a horse shoe formation as a candle-light ceremony was held. Each of ten Scouts lit candles and recited one of the laws as the flame burned. Then all recited the Girl Scout Promise. Everyone joined in singing "When-ere You Make a Promise." Flags were retired.

Refreshments of cookies in the shape of a trefoil and punch were served from an attractively decorated table. In carrying out decorations, yellow roses, the symbol of Girl Scouts everywhere, were used throughout.

Girls flying up were Patty Beard, Lynn Clancy, Jane Ducey, Beth Farmer, Carol Flynn, Nancy Flynn, Sharon Flynn, Cynthia Gordley, Cheryl Hanley, Donna Hunter, Maureen Hynes, Cindy Jennings, Nancy Johnson, Karen Luster, Mary Elizabeth Mansfield, Mary Ramage, Naomi Ramage, Lynn Wooldridge.

Critics who declare that young girls of today are losing their taste for domesticity are probably unaware of the nearly 1,000,000 Girl Scouts—Junior and Cadettes—who chose to work on badges for demonstrated skills in homemaking in the past year.

Although Junior Girl Scouts, ages 9, 10 and 11, have a choice of 47 badges in a variety of subjects, the larger number of girls chose to earn the "Cook" badge. For this badge one of the requirements reads: "Plan and prepare a simple, well-balanced dinner for your family or patrol."

For Cadettes, 12, 13 and 14 years old, there is also a wide range of badges—some 60 of them—but more "Hostess" badges were earned than any other. For the "Hostess" badge Cadettes must develop a knowledge of a range of subjects from planning a party and working out a series of menus to learning about the use and care of linens, dishes, glassware and silverware.

Badge work is an integral part of the Junior and Cadette Girl Scout program because recognition for achievement is so important to girls in these age levels. By the time they reach Senior Scout age they can take on more advanced activities and service projects which concentrate on the very same areas in depth and which serve as career exploration.

But, above all, by the time Juniors and Cadettes meet all the requirements outlined in the badges for domestic skills, they should be as good as Mother in the homemaker department—maybe even better.

DAR Outlines School Programs In Poverty Area

The Regents Roundtable of the fifth division of the Illinois state DAR held their fall meeting October 26 at Hamilton's restaurant.

Members from Springfield, Assumption, Petersburg, Lincoln, Jerseyville, Quincy, Pittsfield and Jacksonville attended.

Miss Dorothy Drennan of Taylorville, fifth division director, presided. Mrs. Dorothy Grabill of Jacksonville, vice-chairman of Regents Roundtable led the pledge of allegiance, and American creed. Mrs. Freda Kenis gave the invocation.

Each year the Illinois State DAR sponsors a bus tour for members to schools helped by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

To qualify as an approved school, it is endorsed by the DAR of the state in which it is located; has been investigated by the national chairman of this committee on approved schools and finally approved by the continental congress.

To qualify a school or college must be definitely for under privileged boys or girls who otherwise would not have the opportunity for education.

Two schools have been established and are owned and operated by the NSDAR. Kate Duncan Smith DAR school at Grand, Alabama and Tamassee DAR, located at Tamassee, S.C.

The organization is currently contributing over $100,000 annually to this program, a spokesman for the DAR explained.

Members of this division reported on their visit to the schools aided by, or sponsored by NSDAR. Mrs. Homer Alvey of Lincoln spoke of their visit to Lincoln university, Harrog, Tenn.

Mrs. Ruth Bywater, Quincy, told of the visit to Tamassee and Mrs. Lorraine Sidlack, Springfield explained the founding and development of Berry school, Rome, Ga.

Miss Drennan outlined the visit to the Kate Duncan Smith school, located at Grant, Ala., while Miss Ruth Dunlap of the Jacksonville chapter was hostess of arrangements.

The next meeting of the Regents Roundtable will be held June 1, 1966 with the Petersburg chapter as host.

The Regents Roundtable is an organization of present and past regents of the divisions.

This year the National Society DAR is celebrating their diamond jubilee. The Jacksonville chapter, organized by Mrs. Julia Duncan Kirby, daughter of the late Governor Joseph Duncan, sixth governor of Illinois, was granted a charter in 1896.

Mrs. Kirby held the organizing meeting in her home. This house, now 4 Duncan Park, was built by her father. It is now owned by, and used as the chapter house of the Rev. James Caldwell chapter, DAR.

Servicemen React To Protests

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — While some Americans are dying in combat in far away Asian jungles, others at home are getting their exercise by walking around carrying placards reading "Get out of Viet Nam."

No American probably would rather get us out of Viet Nam more than the one who is over there doing his sweaty duty.

During a recent visit to Viet Nam, I asked many soldiers what their reaction was to the campus agitation back home against our military policy.

Surprisingly, I found it rather tolerant. "That's kid stuff," some said. "Anyway, it's a free country."

But there was a point at which their wry amusement ceased. That was when they read that some protesters were raising funds to send medical supplies to the Viet Cong.

Invariably this stirred honest anger in every serviceman I talked to. They regarded such efforts as a form of home front traitorism that gave aid and comfort to the enemy. They felt such efforts were a danger to their own existence.

The right of protest against the conduct of his government is a right inherent to every man. But the present minority protest against U.S. policy in Viet Nam has assumed a sinister pattern, in some cases.

It is not mere college cuteness that puts out information to young men on how they can beat the draft. This is a step against the pattern of our survival as a nation and the government has a right to act in its own self-defense.

There is a difference between the conscientious objector who refuses combat duty because it violates his religious principles, himself—nor could he fool his and one who seeks to avoid service because he is a coward.

It is quite possible to serve one's country without pulling a trigger. But it is another thing

Ready To Join War On Poverty

CARROLLTON — Charles K. Barnett, Greene County Superintendent of Schools, has invited over two hundred Greene County residents to meet with him Monday at the courthouse to form a Community Action committee in connection with the War on Poverty Program.

Barnett reports that, because of the small county population as regards government requirements for the program, Greene County will possibly join with several other counties in administering the program.

Wildcats Take 26-6 Edge Over Spartans

By BUFORD GREEN

WINCHESTER — Halfbacks Gary Harbison and Larry Evans led the offensive surge here Friday night, as the Winchester Wildcats took over the undisputed lead in the Illinois Valley conference with a 26-6 victory over North Greene.

The victory, coupled with Greenfield's 20-0 triumph over Southwestern, moves the Wildcats into the top spot all alone, with a 3-0 mark. Pleasant Hill and Southwestern are now tied for second with 2-1 records.

The two speedy backs accounted for over 140 yards of the Wildcats' total of 241 net yards gained on the ground, with Evans scoring twice and Harbison once.

The first three quarters of the game was close, with Winchester taking a 6-0 lead in at halftime, running it to 13-0 in the third and North Greene coming back to within 13-6. The Wildcats put the game out of reach in the final 12 minutes with two more scores.

Winchester scored the first time they got the ball, after ped off runs of 17 and 16 yards respectively in the drive before Gale Ahern picked up McClure's fumble.

Later in the period Winchester moved from their own 19 to midfield, with Evans running for 15 and nine, before Alvin Chesney gobbled up McClure's fumble at the 45 and returned it to the 23 of Winchester.

Come Out Strong

The eventual winners took the opening kickoff of the second half and marched 74 yards in 12 plays for what proved to be the winning difference. In that McClure, Evans, Harbison and fullback Randy Coon tore off big chunks of yardage down to the 11 from where Evans twisted off several tacklers and went in standing up. McClure then passed to Evans for the extra point and a 13-0 lead with 5:49 to play in the quarter.

North Greene mounted their only scoring drive of the night near the end of the quarter, moving from their own 16 to paydirt in 12 plays, early in the fourth. In that scoring drive quarterback Gary James, Ahern, Gib Keller and Jerry Baird ran wild. The ball moved to the one from where James sneaked over for the score. The kick for the PAT went wide to the left.

Evans put the game on ice five plays later, after a short kickoff gave the ball to Winchester at midfield, when the speedy halfback chewed up 31 yards and another score.

Two series later Evans picked off a James' pass at the North Greene 45 and returned it untouched for the concluding score with 2:37 left in the game. Tom McLaughlin booted the PAT and the 26-6 final.

Winchester is now 5-0-2 for the year, while North is 3-3-1 in the season and 2-3 in the IVC.

Rockets Capture Homecoming Win

RUSHVILLE — The Rushville Rockets gained a share of the Spoon River conference crown here Friday night as the knock-off of Macomb High 20-0.

The homecoming triumph leaves the Rockets with a 3-1 slate in conference play, ending them in a tie with Macomb and Lewistown.

The opening kick-off play was all that the locals need for the win, as Steve Hood picked-up a loose ball on the Macomb 30 and carried in for the score.

Training 6-0, the Bombers from Macomb drove to the Rushville 15. Two plays later the visitors connected on a pass play in the end zone, but the effort was to no avail as a penalty erased the surge.

Gaining possession on downs, Rushville managed a sustained drive of their own, moving to the 20 before halfback Mick Lunt scampered up the middle for the marker. Bob Lamgave the Rockets an early 13-0 but kicked the point after to margin.

After scoreless second and third periods, Rushville tallied the final marker of the contest when fullback Dan Crum capped a 71 yard drive with a one yard plunge up the middle. Lambert again converted, giving the Rockets the 20-0 final.

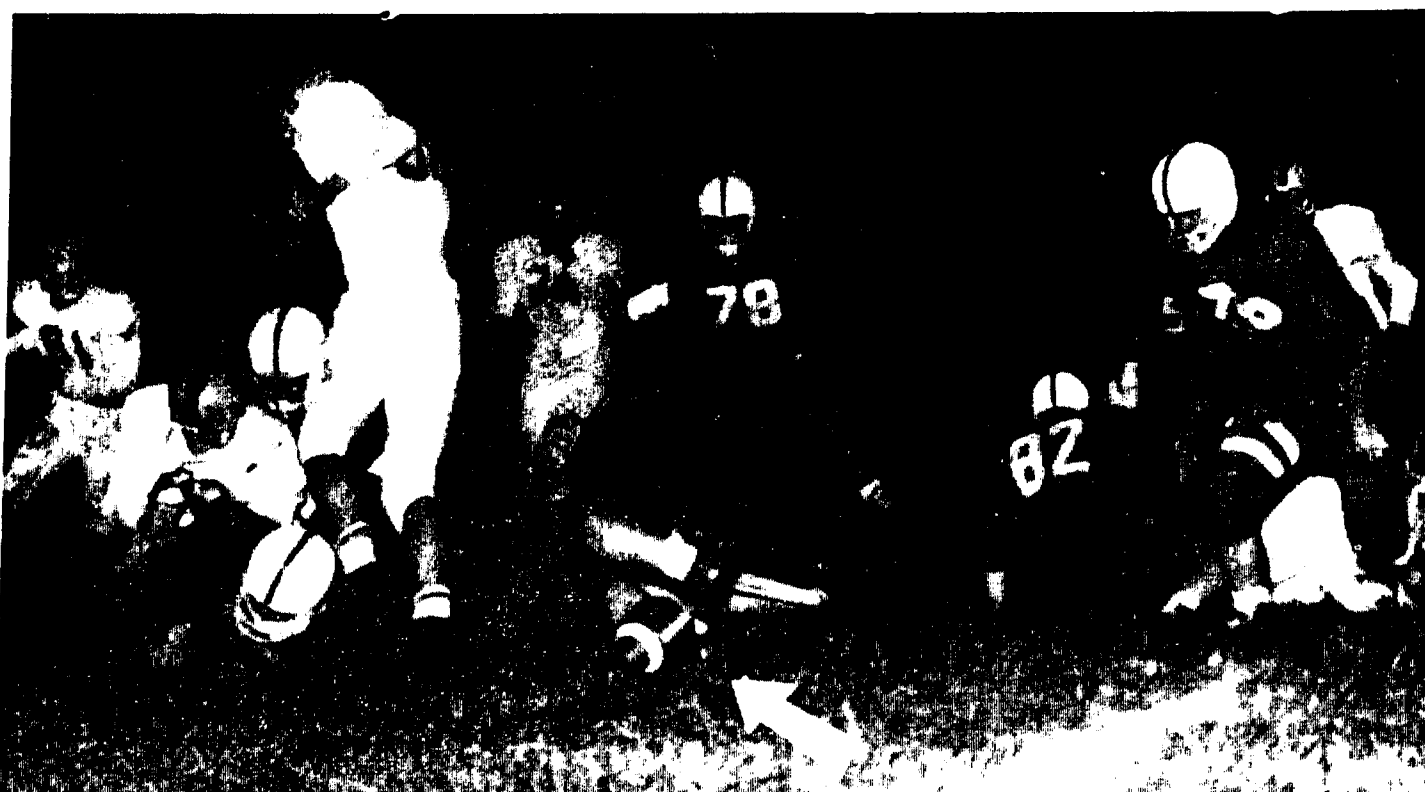

Scoring by quarters:
Rushville 13 0 7-20

PP & K ZONE WINNER

GREENFIELD — Kevin Williams, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of Greenfield, has been named a zone winner in the nation-wide Punt, Pass & Kick Competition sponsored by the National Football League and the Ford Motor Company. He will go to St. Louis in the near future to compete in a district championship contest whose winners will vie for a area championship during halftime of a St. Louis Football Cardinal NFL game at Busch Stadium in November.

OLIVA SATISFACTORY

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota Twins outfielder Tony Oliva was in satisfactory condition in Methodist Hospital Friday after undergoing bone surgery on the middle finger of his right hand.

LOOSE BALL: The football is shown untouched in the middle of a pileup during the Winchester-North Greene Illinois Valley conference tilt Friday night. North Greene's Charles Chrisman (76) prepares to fall on the ball. Also converging for the Spartans are Lloyd Brooks (78) and Robert Crain (82). Winchester scored a 26-6 victory, moving them into the undisputed front in the IVC.

HEADING IN: Winchester halfback Gary Harbison takes the handoff from quarterback Jim McClure and heads into the line for a good gain, one of many for the standout runner Friday night as the Wildcats won their fifth game of the year, a 26-6 count over North Greene.

BREAKING IN A NEW ACT

Giger Scores 3 In Saukewie Romp

PITTSFIELD — Charles Giger scored three times here Friday night to lead Pittsfield to its first win of the season, a 33-6 Midwest conference victory over Beardstown.

Giger scored from three yards out in the opening period, with Mike Lowry running the point after. The Saukewie boosted their lead to 14-0 at half when Giger romped in from five yards out and Don Grist booted the point after.

Lowry scored on a 35 yards pass from Stan Lowe, and Steve Lowe returned an intercepted pass 15 yards for a pair of scores in the third quarter. Grist booted one PAT.

Giger added his final TD of the night in the fourth quarter on a five yard carry. Beardstown's lone score of the night came on a 15-yard pass play after time ran out.

Pittsfield is now 1-3-2 for the season, to Beardstown's 0-7 slate.

Barnes Sparks 14-0 IVC Margin

PLEASANT HILL — Gary Barnes led the powerful Pleasant Hill ground attack with two touchdowns, here Friday night, leading the Wolves to a 14-0 Illinois Valley conference victory over Carrollton.

Barnes scored from three yards out in the third and fourth quarters, and ran one point after. Bill Theray, legged the other.

For the game Pleasant Hill ran up 235 yards on the ground, to only 97 by the losing Hawks. The winners gained 13 first downs to eight by Carrollton.

The victory moves Pleasant Hill into a tie for second with Southwestern, 20-0 loser to Greenfield, both with 2-1 IVC marks. The Wolves are 5-1-1 overall. Carrollton is now 2-4-1 for the year, 1-3-1 in the IVC.

Score by quarters:
Pittsfield 7 7 13 6-33
Beardstown 0 0 0 6-6

Bill McKechnie, Former Manager, Dies Friday

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — William (Bill) McKechnie, the mild-mannered, soft-spoken baseball man they called Dean, died early Friday a little more than 25 years after managing his fourth National League pennant winner and directing the Cincinnati Reds to the world's championship.

Death, caused by leukemia and pneumonia, came to the 78-year-old former pilot of the Pittsburgh Pirates, St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Braves and Reds, in Monast Memorial Hospital.

McKechnie, who retired from baseball in 1953 after coaching the Boston Red Sox for two seasons, had made his home here for the past 20 years. His last season as a manager was 1946 when his Reds slumped to sixth place.

Cincinnati's victory in 1940 was one of the high points of his big league career that began in 1907 as a second baseman for Pittsburgh. The Reds finished 12 games in front of the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Then the Reds won the World Series in seven games. They haven't won a Series since.

McKechnie's survivors include two sons, Bill Jr. of Bradenton, and James, Syracuse, N.Y., and two daughters, Mrs. Craig White, Trenton, N.J., and Mrs. Don Matchett, Jacksonville, Fla. His wife died in 1957.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. EST. Monday at Trinity Methodist Church.

McKechnie took over at Cincinnati in 1938.

His other pennant winners were the 1925 Pirates, the 1928 Cardinals and the 1939 Reds. The 1925 Pirates also won the World Series, defeating the Washington Senators.

McKechnie, a native of Wilkesburg, Pa., was inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., in 1962.

NINE TEAMS VIE FOR BOWL BID

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) — Nine teams are under consideration for the 17th annual Mineral Water Bowl football game to be played here Nov. 27.

Rodney Rounkles, chairman of the team selection committee, announced Friday the teams under consideration are Maryville (Mo.) State College, Washington University at St. Louis, Springfield (Mo.) State College, Northern Illinois University at DeKalb, Colorado Western College, Nebraska State College at Wayne, North Dakota State at Fargo, Parsons College at Fairfield, Iowa, and Austin College at Sherman, Tex.

Routt Scores 25-0 Romp Over Bluffs

BLUFFS — Routt scored once in each quarter here Friday night to run up a 25-0 PMSC conference triumph over the host Bluffs Bluejays.

While the offense was controlling the scoreboard, the Rocket defense held the Bluffs' running game at bay all evening. The Bluejays got inside the Routt 30 only once, in the third quarter.

Leading the offensive effort were fullback Mike Sheehan, a hard runner all evening, and halfback Mike Fitzpatrick. Sheehan was moved to full for an injured Paul Lambert.

Fitzpatrick scored first, on a 75-yard scamper in the opening 12 minutes. Sheehan made it across from one yard away in the second period, and quared the point after for a 13-0 setback Tom Murgatroyd boot-halftime edge.

Halfback Dave Geers legged it in from three yards out in the third period, and Fitzpatrick scored again when he took a 20-yard TD pass from Murgatroyd. The win boosts the Rockets' season's mark to 3-2-2, and leaves them with a 2-1-2 PMSC slate. Bluffs drops to 1-5 overall, and 1-4 in the conference.

Score by quarters:
Routt 6 7 6 6-25
Bluffs 0 0 0 0-0

Late Scoring Yields 32-20

HAVANA — Three touchdowns in the fourth period erased an earlier 20-13 Havana lead, carrying Bushnell to a 32-20 Spoon River Conference win over the Ducks here Friday night.

Trailing going into the final period, the visitors completely dominated the fourth quarter action, scoring on plays of two, 12 and 15 yards to even their season slate at 3-3.

Havana drew first blood in the ball game as fullback John Brown scored on a one yard plunge off right tackle for the marker.

Trailing 6-0, Bushnell gained two straight touchdowns on near identical plays, picking-up blocked punt attempts, running in scores of 25 and 30 yards. Terry Ebert and Mark Cox, both linemen, gained the heroics for the visitors.

The Ducks took the offensive and the lead shortly after the second half got underway. A 35 yard reverse play by Greg Andrews, and a point after conversion on a pass play from Ken Beatty to Ken Reiser gave the locals a 13-13 tie, while a 31 yard run up the middle by Reiser gave the Havana club a 19-13 lead.

Reiser also added the PAT for their 20-13 margin.

Early in the final frame, Bushnell gained the edge on a two yard plunge by quarterback Ed Jackson, and took the final lead as Jim Havens and Gary Holloway ran in identical 12 yarders.

Scoring by quarters:
Bushnell 7 6 0 19-32
Havana 6 0 14 0-20

Calhoun Drops 28-0 Contest

HARDY — A strong Wentzville, Mo.ouri ball club took control early and held it for the entire contest as they dealt the Calhoun Warriors a 28-0 non-conference defeat here Friday night.

The visitors recorded 11 first downs in the contest to only five for the locals, grinding out 312 yards, and collecting three pickoffs.

Wentzville opened the scoring in the first frame when Mike Rhoads capped a 63 yard drive with a plunge up the middle for the two yards. Rhoads gained the PAT on an identical play.

Speedster halfback Guy Gibson captured the visitors' second markers of the night, as he took a quick opener up the middle for 50 yards. Greg Costello added the point after, giving the Wentzville club a 14-0 halftime lead.

In the third period Calhoun managed to get inside the visitors 20 on two occasions, but were frequently penalized, losing the ball on downs.

Leading 14-0 Wentzville added two more touchdowns in the final frame. John Kelley hit split end Tom Brightley on a screen pass which covered 13 yards for the first tally, while Stan Simpson gained the second on a three yard run off right tackle.

Rhoads added both points after, to make the final 28-0. The loss drops Calhoun to a 1-5 mark on the season, while the visitors stand 3-3-1.

PREP GRIDDER DIES

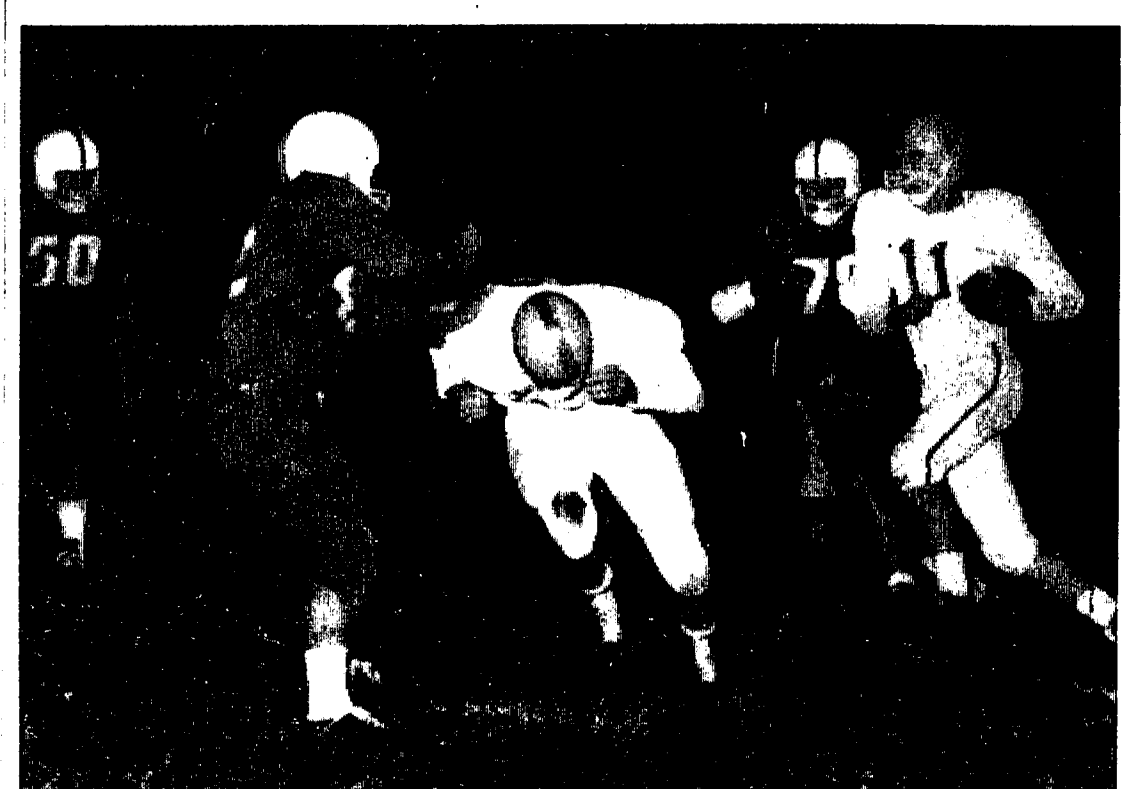

SALINAS, Calif. (AP) — Ruben Perez, 18, defensive halfback for the North Salinas High School football team, died Thursday night of a head injury.

The coroner's inquest report Friday said his death was the result of a cerebral hemorrhage and traumatic brain injury.

Jones added the Bluejays' final six points on a 15-yard carry with about four minutes left in the game.

Porta now has a 3-4 overall record, 3-1 in the PMSC. Virginia is now 1-6 on the year, 1-2 in the conference.

Gillespie Cops 40-14 Triumph Of Jerseyville

GILLESPIE — Quarterback Bob Boston passed for four touchdowns here Friday night, two each to ends Jim Savant and Rick Fulton, as Gillespie rolled up an impressive 40-14 non-conference win over Jerseyville.

Boston connected for 10 of 20 attempts during the contest for 187 yards and lead the ground attack to 159 yards rushing, for the win which leaves the locals with a 6-1 slate on the season.

Gillespie gained three TDs in the ballgame before the visitors managed to nudge the scoring column. The markers came on pass plays of 75 and seven yards Savant and Fulton respectively, while fullback Dave Hasquin carried in from the three for the other tally.

Jerseyville broke the ice late in the second period as Tom Barry ran one in from the six.

The second half saw Boston again going to the air as he hit Fulton and Savant for their final two markers of the night.

Barry also added the visitors' second score of the contest, on a 22 yard jaunt off left tackle.

Steve Benich converted four point after touchdown kicks for the visitors.

REPORT 2 MISHAPS IN CITY FRIDAY

No injuries were reported following two separate traffic accidents on city streets Friday afternoon and evening, according to investigation city police.

Driver of a vehicle, making a turn onto Park from West College was struck by an east-bound car about 6:12 p.m. Friday. Marjorie L. Moon of Springfield told police she was turning when the eastbound car, driven by Harold C. Sanders of 340 Webster struck her car.

Sanders told police the Moon auto made the turn from the far right side of the road.

One vehicle was heavily damaged in an accident at the Mound avenue drive to Ellis Hall on the Illinois college campus about 4:30 p.m. Friday.

A car backing from the drive, by Jonette G. White of Glenview struck a westbound auto on Mound, driven by Kathleen J. Seaton of Trenton.

Miss White said she failed to see the Seaton auto.

Ella Long, passed away in 1940.

He is survived by one son, Richard.

Mayes Services Held In Colorado

BEARDSTOWN -- Funeral services for Fred Mayes, 92-year-old former Beardstown resident, were held Friday in Pueblo, Col. Mr. Mayes died in Pueblo Wednesday.

His wife, the former Rose fire.

GRASS FIRE

A grass fire in the 400 block at East Court was checked by city firemen about three o'clock Friday afternoon. Firemen said it was apparently caused by sparks from a near-by trash fire.

WANTED! MEN - WOMEN

from ages 18 and over. Prepare now for U. S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five passes.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

For FREE information on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail at once-TODAY.

You will also get full details on how you can prepare yourself for these tests. Don't delay-ACT NOW!
